

HOUSE PASSES MERCHANT MARINE BILL

208 VOTE FOR MEASURE, AND 184 ARE 'NOES'

Only Two Congressmen Refuse To Commit Selves—Vote "Present"

BULLETIN
Washington. — The administration ship bill to extend government aid to American shipping was passed on Wednesday by the house. The vote on final passage was 208 to 184 with two voting present.

Washington — Attacking the administration shipping bill in the house Wednesday, Representative Andrew, Republican of Massachusetts, declared the measure still "offered a dangerous precedent, which if adopted will bound us for years to come."

Opposing the bill, as Republican leaders were speaking it toward the point of passage the speech attracted unusual interest since Mr. Andrew represents a district in one of the principal maritime states. The easiest course, he said, was to support the bill.

Republican leaders were predicting passage of the administration shipping bill by a comfortable margin when the house proceeds to a final vote on the measure not later than 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after a final session for consideration of amendments.

Important among the changes voted Tuesday was an amendment necessitating the authorization by congress each year of payments from the merchant marine fund to operators of American ships, this being generally viewed among members not only as doing away with a permanent appropriation but also as affording a check on expenditures. Other amendments added to those previously adopted would exclude from receiving government aid concerns operating ships for their own benefit except when they transported cargoes of other shippers; withhold government aid for all voyages on which liquor was carried and reduce from $1,000 to 500 gross tons the minimum tonnage for sailing vessels eligible for government aid.

GERMANS HIDE GUNS, CLEMENCEAU SAYS

By Associated Press
Chicago — Georges Clemenceau halted his appeals for American friendship for France Wednesday for a day of rest in preparation for the continuation of his tour Thursday morning. Tuesday night he remained up to an hour past his usual bed time or until 9 o'clock despite the strain on his speech at the Auditorium and the greatest ovation he has received since his arrival in America.

Clemenceau read with much interest comments on his speech of Tuesday in which he declared that while France was seeking only peace, war was being forced upon her. While Clemenceau rested, thousands reviewed the salient points of his speech Tuesday afternoon—his plea for peace and the preservation of France.

A copy of what Clemenceau termed a certified official report of the Allied commission of military control on hidden war material unearthed in Germany shared attention.

"Thousands of rifles, pistols, cartridges, parts of guns, field telephone wire and quantities of other war material dug up in 45 separate instances since July 15, 1921 were mentioned in the report."

Thanksgiving Day Prayer

BY DR. J. A. HOLMES

Almighty Father, may we this Thanksgiving Day, with great reverence diligently consider Thy benefits both in general and particular, that we may be able to worthily render thanks. Thy beneficent laws and kindly forces are better we ask their sense of appreciation and gratitude. The better we know Thee and Thy providence, and our own indebtedness to Thy providence, and our own independence, the more thankful we should be.

We are sometimes thoughtless and very selfish. It is so easy to forget the blessings of yesterday. We constantly pray for the favors of tomorrow; but TODAY we would learn the joy of contentment and return grateful thanks for what Thou hast done—FOR WHAT WE HAVE, not what we expect to get.

We thank Thee for our homes, our families, our churches, our State and Nation, our world; the products of field and forest, flock and factory. We would thoughtfully consider how we can better serve Thee. How we can give, rather than receive—how we can serve rather than be served.

We weary of sophistry—the clamor of selfish strife, the clash of opposing interests, the arrogant cruelty of selfishness. We want wonder and trustfulness—the wonder of childhood, the quiet trustfulness of childhood, the tender solicitude of loving hearts. In this we shall find peace and happiness and contentment.

We would have more kindly consideration for each other—in honor preferring one another. In order to do this we must know each other better—other peoples, other churches, other institutions, other cities, other nations. Not for what we can receive from them in inspiration, commerce and trade alone, but what may come to us all through mutual understanding and helpfulness—a lasting social, religious and international peace.

Finally, we pray for our own city with its comfortable homes, its fair children, its fine schools, its growing college, its civic organization, its centers of trade, its thriving industries. We pray for those who govern its life, plan for its future and protect it from evil and crime. May we together—regardless of race, creed, party, group, order, clan or any other man-made distinction, serve our city with a fervor that is born of a corporate faith in its possibilities. May envy, malice, animosity and greed die in our hearts, and may we this day humbly and simply thank Thee for the privilege of living in this period of world attainment and prosperity.

Amen.

LAUNCH DRIVE AT LAWRENCE FOR NEW 'GYM'

Trustees Announce Campaign For Quarter Million—Vote Summer Session

That Lawrence college will have a new gymnasium as soon as the necessary $250,000 building fund can be raised, was the decision made at the meeting of the board of trustees at Carnegie library on Tuesday afternoon. It was also practically decided that Lawrence would adopt the four-quarter plan of school year and have a summer session of 12 weeks. This plan was approved by the board on Tuesday and referred to the faculty of the college for decision as to details. The faculty is understood, already has expressed its approval of the plan.

Reports of the treasurer and president of the college were made and accepted. Dr. Plantz included in his report the success of the recent $600,000 campaign, which included the alumni jubilee fund, general donations and $200,000 from the General Education board, given on the condition that Lawrence raise $400,000 itself. A revision of the bylaws was made, bringing them up to date.

TO ENLARGE HALL.
The time limit set for the raising of the new $250,000 building fund was two years. The fund will include an appropriation of $50,000 for the enlargement of Science hall and $50,000 for running expenses. The amount which will be used for the gymnasium probably will be $125,000. No decisions will be made concerning the type of building or site until the money has been raised partially.

ENGLAND AND GREECE BREAK; LEAVE ATHENS

Officials of Both Countries, However, Continue Near East Parley

By Associated Press
Athens — The British minister F. O. Lindley, has notified the Greek government that Great Britain has broken off relations with Greece and that he is leaving Athens.

C. H. Bentick, member of the financial control, remains here. This action follows the execution earlier in the day of six former cabinet officers and army officials convicted of high treason in connection with the Greek military disaster in Asia Minor.

SAY DANGER CONCEALED.
A statement issued by the court martial says in effect that the defendants knowingly concealed from the people the danger involved in King Constantine's return to the throne and that, although Greece was breaking away from her alliances, they did their utmost to consolidate Constantine's throne in order to enjoy office under him.

"By terroristic methods," the statement adds, "they stifled all public opinion contrary to them, arranged with Gen. Hadjiafentis a pretended offensive against Constantinople, and thereby brought about the enemy's offensive and the collapse of the Greek front in Asia Minor, thus deliberately delivering a large part of the army into the enemy's hands."

"They, therefore, were convicted, in accordance with several articles of the military and penal codes of conspiring to commit high treason."

U. S. PLANS TO RAISE HOOD OF KU KLUX KLAN

Department of Justice Seeking Methods To Go About Probe

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1922 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Prosecution of the Ku Klux Klan for alleged violations of the federal penal code is under consideration at the department of justice. The letter of Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts, Democrat, has had the effect of prompting a search for precedents. President Harding is on record against the activities of secret organizations such as the Ku Klux Klan and there is no question about the administration's hostility to the movement as practiced. The only question is as to the power of the federal government to cope with the matter.

Irrespective of the decision raised by the administration, enough has happened already to indicate that no more embarrassing question has been injected in American politics than that of the Ku Klux Klan. Politicians of both parties agree that ultimately it will have far reaching consequences on party alignments in different parts of the country.

DEMOCRATS TO SUFFER.
Broadly speaking, the Democratic party is picked to suffer most from the issue. The Ku Klux Klan is strongest in the south where the movement aims to a large extent at the suppression of the Negro's aspirations toward social and political equality. While it is true the Democratic party in the south is divided on the question, the chances are the strongest support for the Ku Klux will continue to come from the south. The northern Democrats, on the other hand, will be confronted with the problem of aligning themselves for or against the Ku Klux Klan and men like Senator Walsh and others who have constituencies composed largely of Catholics will be found fighting their Democratic brethren from the south.

A split in the Democratic party between north and south would be costly to the Democrats at a time when they are bending every energy to consolidate their strength. The Republican party on the other hand, which has always been friendly to the colored voters especially since the Civil war and is at present trying to push through congress an anti-lynching bill will be the natural beneficiary of the Ku Klux issue. The Republican administration happens to be in power and unquestionably before many weeks have passed will take a definite stand against the secret order.

While many Republicans in northern states have joined the Klan because of its opposition to racial groups other than Negroes, the belief here is that the Klan will not become as acute an affair throughout the north as the south.

Republican candidates for office who wish to retain the friendship and support of Catholics, Jews and foreign born voters will naturally go on record against the Ku Klux and while Democrats in the same states will probably be as vehement in their denunciation of the Klan as northern Republicans, the net effect on the Democratic party's strength may be to weaken it because of the inroads the Klan has already made on the Democratic party in the south.

COUZENS GET TOGA DROPPED BY NEWBERRY

Governor Groesbeck of Michigan Names Detroit Mayor As Senator

By Associated Press
Lansing, Mich. — Mayor James Couzens of Detroit, Wednesday was appointed by Governor A. J. Groesbeck as United States senator from Michigan to fill the unexpired term of former Senator Truman H. Newberry, who resigned recently.

Mayor Couzens has accepted the appointment, the governor said. The notification of his appointment has been forwarded to Mr. Couzens at the hotel Belmont in New York City. The appointee is in New York to spend Thanksgiving with his daughter, a college student.

The governor announced Mr. Couzens, who has gained nationwide prominence through his municipal railway venture here, would take his seat in the senate as soon as his Detroit affairs could be arranged.

Announcement of the appointment followed a week's survey of the more than half a hundred candidates. Appointment of the Detroit mayor to the senate is seen in political circles as definitely exploding the belief previously advanced in some quarters that the governor himself would be a candidate for the senate for the full term at the 1924 general elections.

Mr. Couzens is generally expected here will be a candidate for the full term.

POSTMORTEM IS HELD OVER POISON VICTIM

Result of Pathologist's Findings To Be Known Friday—Fear For Girl's Parents

By Associated Press
Chilton — Dr. Daniel Hopkinson, prominent Milwaukee pathologist, took a hand Wednesday in the official clearing up of the Jericho poison case when he conducted a postmortem examination of the body of Mrs. Theresa Schneider, which was exhumed Tuesday.

The result of the doctor's autopsy will probably not be made known before Friday as a thorough and careful chemical examination of the woman's digestive organs is to be made in an attempt to establish how much poison, if any, was administered. There is no doubt in the minds of local medical men that poison, contained in candy mailed to her by Anna Lentz, caused the death. Anna Lentz's confession admitting the purchase of the poison, the candy and the mailing of the package, make the autopsy only a matter of form to fulfill the demands of the law in first degree murder cases, officials said.

A warrant charging first degree murder was issued and served on the young woman Tuesday and prior to her arraignment before Justice of the Peace John A. Hume, District Attorney H. P. Arps asked for a continuance of the preliminary hearing for a week pending the outcome of the autopsy.

Three of the girl's five brothers, Matt, Anton and Joe Lentz who live near her home, awaited her appearance before the justice of the peace in the court house to hear from her lips the story which is on every neighbor's tongue.

Raymond Lentz, aged father of the girl, has not yet been told of his daughter's confessed act. He believes, according to the sense, that his daughter is working as a domestic somewhere, as she has been accustomed to do at intervals for many years.

The mother of the girl was not told of the crime until Tuesday. She is in a state of collapse and it is feared the strain, combined with her age may have serious effects.

COUNTY'S LEVY ON CITY CUT $23,000

Appleton's quota for state and county taxes this year will be $202,320.43, according to the list furnished the city clerk by Herman J. Kamps, county clerk. Of this amount $37,000 is state taxes, and $165,320.43 county taxes. A special state charge on the county of $2,031.52 is levied. An additional county school tax of $22,473.35 is to be paid by the city, which makes a grand total of state, county and county school taxes of $224,793.78. This amount is $23,555.56 less than the grand total of last year, which amounted to $247,949.34. Last year the state tax to be paid by the city aggregated $47,214.17, the county taxes equalled $179,068.98 and the county school taxes totalled $21,666.19.

Mrs. Brimmer Will Wait For Tiernan Move

Marshalltown, Ia. — Counsel for Mrs. Blanche Hawn Rash Brimmer, wife for a day of Professor J. P. Tiernan of South Bend, Ind. Wednesday announced his opinion was Mrs. Brimmer and not Mrs. Augusta Tiernan would be entitled to the dowry interest in the former professor's estate despite the fact the instructor's divorce decree was vacated shortly after the second ceremony.

A. R. Hoover, Mrs. Brimmer's attorney, also said that it was his opinion that Arthur Brimmer, Mrs. Brimmer's former husband, no longer was a figure in quadrangle because he was married at the time he married Mrs. Brimmer. The Iowa law provides, Mr. Hoover said, that a man who marries without first obtaining a divorce is subject to prosecution for bigamy while the woman whom he marries retains her former status.

Until after the hearing is concluded and ruling made on the order vacating the divorce, Attorney Hoover said, he and his client will maintain a policy of watchful waiting, permitting Professor Tiernan to take the initiative. The hearing will be set for Dec. 11 at South Bend.

BEATRICE HERE FOR GRID GAME WITH APPLETON

Western Team Ready to Take Field in Annual Turkey Day Battle

A little bit surprised by the frosty atmosphere, 17 young men, accompanied by their coach, W. J. Hughes their principal, W. H. were met at the train by a delegation of high school people who escorted them to their hotel and then provided conveyances to Lawrence field where the Nebrians spent an hour or two waiting the stiffness out of the bones.

Tonight the visitors and the Appleton team will be entertained by the Rotary club at a dinner in the Sherman house. There will be brief talks by principals of the schools, the coaches and perhaps by some of the players. Rotarians also will get in a few words to tell the visitors that Appleton is glad they are here but that Appleton is going to try to wallop them tomorrow. The program for the students will be brief so they can get to bed early to get a good night's rest before the all important struggle.

Couch A. C. Denny is expected to put his warriors through the final paces this afternoon. The practice, if any, will be light, just enough to keep the men limbered up. All the men are in fairly good condition and Appleton will be prepared to sent its strongest lineup against the invaders. The struggle tomorrow will begin at 2 o'clock. It will be the last high school game of the season.

Elmer Schmidt, Agent, is Held For Questioning by Police

LET ROBBER IN OFFICE

Police Say Schmidt Has Criminal Record—Story is Discredited

Elmer Schmidt, night ticket agent, of the main Northwestern station is being held by the police for questioning, following a purported robbery of $500, said by Schmidt to have been committed by a lone masked bandit at about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. Schmidt, police say, has a police record, having served a sentence in the workhouse for theft of a motorcycle about a year ago.

The story given by Schmidt to the police and which the police are inclined to discredit is that a man entered the station at about 4 o'clock, stepped in front of the ticket window and gave the command, "Open up, Schmidt."

The agent then opened the window partly, probably no more than four inches, and stooped to see who the person was, according to the report given by the police. There he saw a man dressed in a mask and gray cap and wearing a black mask.

As the bandit saw the ticket agent he pushed a 32 caliber revolver underneath the service window and directed him to open the door. Schmidt ducked below the window, but went to the door to admit the visitor. The bandit then commanded Schmidt to open the safe, gave him three minutes in which to do it.

The bandit left immediately, but the agent did not observe in which direction he had gone. After about ten minutes he notified the police who immediately began an investigation. They are now at work on several clues.

IOWA CATTLE BUYER GIVEN NEW TRIAL

Pitz, who she slept on the witness stand in her own defense, testified she was continually abused and her life often threatened with shotgun, knife or revolver during the six years of their married life. On the night when she shot her husband while he lay asleep in bed she testified he had threatened to kill her in the morning. She did not realize what she was doing when she fired the fatal shot, she said, so great was the fear which obsessed her. The case will go to the jury Wednesday.

FREE AUTO DRIVER OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

By Associated Press
Green Bay—Leonard Coenen, of De Pere, who was held by the state for trial on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter for running into Mrs. John Engels also of De Pere, was freed of the charge when he offered his automobile and all of his personal belongings to John Engels, husband of the dead woman. Coenen, it was alleged by the prosecution, ran into Mrs. Engels as she was waiting for a street car. The court found that the cause of the fatal accident was a misty fog, which dimmed the driver's vision.

I SPIED TODAY

Contributors to I Spied Today are heading the injunction to be specific in giving details which will enable readers to identify the time and place of the events they described but there still is room for improvement. A large number of items were discarded because the writers failed to obtain all the essential facts. In describing automobile accidents or events in which automobiles figure, the license numbers should be obtained and the time and place should be specifically stated. "I Spied" tickets will not be good for admissions to the Elite theatre on Thanksgiving day, other holidays and on Sundays. They can be used, however, for the current attraction, which is "The Fast Mail," and the show for Friday and Saturday in which Elmer Hammerstein will be featured in "Evidence," another splendid picture.

REAR END COLLISION
At about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon while walking on Wisconsin street I noticed two neighbors backing out of their driveway at the same time. As the driveways were directly across from each other and neither driver seeing the other they crashed to leather.

They got out to see how much damage was done but found they only had bent fenders.

WRONG SIGNAL
Last Saturday as I was returning from Appleton on the 12:15 car a lady got on the same car. She took a vacant seat ahead of me. Hearing "Morrison-st she decided to get off, but instead of pressing the bell, she arose and pulled the rope that registers the fare paid. Although there was a great deal of excitement, she finally succeeded in getting off.

A DANGEROUS TURN
Sunday at 6:30 while returning from Green Bay I noticed as I entered the Hotel building a serious accident. The driver of a Ford car speeding along at 35 miles an hour didn't see the sharp turn and went straight ahead into a deep ditch and then through a barbed wire fence. The damage was two broken front wheels and bent steering gear. The occupants were badly shaken up.

LESSON ON HOW TO GET RICH
Tuesday morning while helping at the rummage sale in the Northern Hotel building, I noticed a bunch of Malaga grapes lying in the drive way on Appleton st. They were there more than an hour when an elderly woman of considerable means came along picked them up and brushed them off and ate them. It amused the crowd at the sale.

DRIVER WAS FUSSED
Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock "I Spied" a man with a Buick car turn from Lake-st on to Prospect-st. When he got about halfway up the hill his engine stopped and the car began to go down hill backwards. The man became excited and before he knew what he was doing the car had backed way down the hill nearly backing into another car going up Lake-st. The driver of the other car however had control of his car and stopped just in time to avoid an accident.

THOUGHT IT WAS FUNNY
Monday noon as I crossed the railway bridge on South River-st. near the Richmond school, I saw three little boys, about the age of seven, playing near a large pond of ice. One of the boys threw something on the ice and the other boy ran after it, but getting near the middle, where the ice was thin the boy fell through almost to his neck. Instead of the other little boys helping him they thought it was a joke and began to laugh, leaving him get out as best he could. He soon got out, the water just streaming from his clothes. He began to cry and ran home as fast as he could while the other boys went on to school.

BOYS RUIN RINKS WITH MISSILES

City Engineer Asks Youths to Desist from Hampering Skating Preparations

Unless some little boys gifted in throwing stones and sticks remember that Halloween is past, they are likely to be deprived of their chief winter sport, skating.

Employees of the street department have been devoting considerable time this fall toward getting the wide ice rinks in shape for the winter. Just a few days ago rinks in the First and Fifth wards were flooded in order to soak up the ground. At once several nervous boys who could not resist the temptation of throwing stones and sticks into the water began to litter the ice rink.

As the ice is too unsafe to permit of pulling all the sticks out of it, several more inches of water will have to be wasted in order to provide a smooth surface and make skating safe. If this abuse persists some of the rinks will be ruined for the winter.

As it is impossible to keep sentries stationed at all of the rinks, O. P. Weissgerber, city engineer, is appealing to teachers of schools and parents to assist in preventing this abuse.

MADE HIM PEEVED
While on his way down town Tuesday an old gentleman was painfully injured by being hit in the back of the head with a tin can at the corner of College-ave and Cherry-st where several boys were playing shinny. He was very much agitated and with uplifted cane took after the youngsters inquiring, "What for you hit me?"

CHASED HIS OWN THEN
Tuesday afternoon a woman was walking down College-ave when her hat blew off and went rolling down the street on edge. A man went after it and just as he grabbed it his hat blew off and went rolling down the street on edge. The lady chased her own hat just as if they were chasing each other.

DIDN'T HURT HER
Monday morning about 6:45 o'clock I noticed a girl going to work on a bicycle turning the corner on Maple Grove. The walk was slippery, the wheel slipped and she rolled over and over into the ditch. I thought she injured herself but she picked her self up brushed the dirt off her clothes and kept on going.

LACK 43 SIGNERS FOR GREENVILLE PHONE RENEWALS

Plant Will Be Rebuilt Immediately After 200 Subscribe for Service

Greenville is well on its way toward restoration of telephone service and it is expected that if signers of the agreement continue in number as within the last week or two the required 200 will be obtained. The Wisconsin Telephone company then will bend all its efforts to rebuild the plant ruined by the sleet storm of last winter.

More than 200 telephones were taken out when the Wisconsin railroad commission granted the company an increase in rates based on the expense of operating the Greenville exchange. Approximately 40 telephones which remained were put out of service by the storm and have been in use only if connected to long distance lines.

There has been a demand by many farmers for telephone service at the rate fixed by the company at $2.50 a month, including both local service at Greenville and long distance connection with Appleton exchange without extra charge. The company therefore set out to gain enough subscribers to make it possible to reinstate the exchange.

157 HAVE SIGNED

Figures compiled by J. T. Quinlan, district manager, show that 157 persons have agreed to use the service for one year at the rate of $2.50. The solicitation will continue for another week with expectation of obtaining the remaining 43 patrons.

"We are pushing this matter to conclusion now," said Mr. Quinlan, "because our work incident to last winter's sleet storm has gotten to the point where we can spare a crew to rebuild the Greenville line. Every man we could obtain has been kept at work all summer rebuilding our system. We completed permanent repairs in Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac Nov. 15. We still have work to do at Hortonville and our Milwaukee-Milwaukee line in the vicinity of DePere. It will be Jan. 1 before all this is done. All possible attention has been given to rural lines and the Greenville line is the last of these to be rebuilt."

HOPE FOR SUCCESS

"We hope the Greenville list will grow to 200 because the company wants to accommodate these farmers who are in need of telephone service. As soon as the total is realized, the plant will be rebuilt."

There are 208 available subscribers in the Greenville locality. Lack of service at Greenville also is keeping 93 farmers of the Ellington Farmers Telephone company exchange from enjoying connection with the Wisconsin Telephone company's wires. The farmers have rebuilt their line but have only local service among the 93 homes. These lines will be coupled with the Greenville office in case it is restored.

Losses caused by the sleet storm were expected to amount to hundreds of thousands, Mr. Quinlan said, but they have totaled millions instead. Cost of copper wire strung on the system to replace the broken lines alone amounted to $700,000.

SPECIAL CABLE ARRIVES FOR INSURANCE BUILDING

Light and power cables that are to be installed in the insurance building of the Aid Association for Lutherans now have been received after a delay of three months. The cables will be laid underground and will supply the electrical equipment, both the lights and the elevator of the new building. Valley Construction company of Neenah has the electrical contract.

This type of cable could not be found on the market and it was therefore necessary to have one made in the east. The building has had temporary service from wires direct from the poles.

Workmen now are engaged also in installing the bowling alleys that the local branch of the Aid association will use in this winter's recreational activities.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE AT HOLSTEIN BULL SALE

Large numbers of farmers turned out Wednesday afternoon to attend the auction sale of purchased bulls conducted by Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association at the Frank Gries farm, Greenville. It was expected that the attendance would mean lively bidding and a consequent strong average price for the animals offered. Most of the bulls were from the best breeding strains in this locality.

OSHKOSH WANTS WEIGLE 2ND TIME

Speaker Who Is to Address Chamber of Commerce Here Was Popular Man

Oshkosh is another of the Fox River valley cities where Dan E. Weigle of St. Paul, Minn., is hailed as one of the most popular speakers on the platform, especially on community subjects. He is the man who speaks at the December forum meeting of the chamber of commerce here.

Green Bay praised Mr. Weigle warmly for his work there and Oshkosh now adds its praise. In a letter from Edward R. Smith, secretary of Oshkosh Association of Commerce, the writer says:

"Dan E. Weigle of St. Paul addressed some 275 of our members and guests at a civic dinner.

"His address was one of the best I ever heard. We have had so many requests since then from our members who wish to hear Mr. Weigle again, that we have invited him to be with us at our annual association dinner in January."

Mr. Weigle not only is a splendid speaker, but he has a wonderful personality as well. He made a host of warm personal friends during his membership campaign here. Your people will enjoy hearing him."

Arrangements are being made for the forum banquet on Dec. 11, with the expectation that it will have an attendance which will pack the largest hall.

RADIO PATTEN

Station WLAG, Minneapolis, will broadcast a dance program from 8:30 to midnight on Thursday night. Many other stations have announced special Thanksgiving day programs for Thursday night.

Geography plays an important part in radio communication.

A few years ago there was a tendency to search for new theories which might account for the vagaries of radio transmission. Now they are being directed toward the radio-geographical surveys.

Greatest interest is being taken by the government departments in the geography of this science. But commercial firms also are delving into the mysteries of the earth's surface as it affects transmission by wireless.

The private concerns are chiefly interested in the conditions governing transmission from continent to continent. They have observed the effects of land formations—of mountain ranges, seas and deserts—on transmission and reception. The absorption of the radio energy the forests and sand dunes, low hills and mountains has been observed and taken into account.

Surveys have also been made of various sea-coasts with a view to ascertaining best locations for small ship stations. The difference in the desirability of sites even a few miles apart is startling.

LIKE WEATHER MAPS

The Bureau of Standards is planning a comprehensive map of the United States, and then of the world, relating to radio just as weather maps relate to the weather. For this purpose it has been gathering information through amateurs connected with the American Radio Relay League.

"Fading," for example, is being investigated. Such effect causes a signal to vary in strength between wide limits. A station which is normally audible may become totally inaudible due to "fading." Or the reverse may be the case. Irregularities in land formations are suspected of producing such an effect, but investigation is still going on to find the true cause.

In any case, places where "fading" is experienced will be set down on maps for the guidance of broadcasters and amateurs of Commerce.

The Bureau of Commerce, in connection with the Bureau of Standards, has also been making a survey to ascertain the normal range of broadcasting stations of the country. Maps, not much unlike our weather maps, will be drawn to assist amateurs and novices in the reception of broadcast concerts.

Friday, Dec. 1 and Sunday Dec. 3 radio fans throughout Wisconsin will have an opportunity of hearing Eliza Wittwer-Dawley, New York Mezzo-Soprano, according to announcement by the committee in charge of arrangements for the radio convention in Milwaukee, Nov. 27 to Dec. 3 inclusive.

The artist is enroute east after a very successful concert tour of the west and the committee considers it self especially fortunate in being able to present her and thus afford radio fans throughout the country an opportunity to listen in on two very high class programs.

THE WOMEN OF POISE

Once a rarity, is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life, the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, flustered individual wastes her talents and gets nowhere. Of course, poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women? adv.

NYHUS ISSUES HIS FIRST REPORT; IS BOOST FOR COUNTY

Farm Yield Here Ranks With District and State—Crops Were Excellent

The first crop report sent out by Paul Nyhus, until recently farm agent of the First National bank of Appleton, and now federal statistician for Wisconsin crop reporting service, shows that Outagamie-co ranks well in the eastern district comprising Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Kewaunee, Manitowish, Outagamie, Sheboygan and Winnebago counties in the production of corn, potatoes, clover and milk.

According to the report, the yield of corn for this county was 52 bushels an acre this fall. The average for the state was 43.5. The county's 5-year average was 40.8 bushels an acre. Brown and Winnebago counties were highest in the district with 55 bushels an acre. Door county produced the minimum of 45 bushels an acre.

MANY POTATOES

The county ranks third highest in the district for production of potatoes, the yield being 142 bushels the acre, and the 5-year average 96 an acre. Wisconsin's average production per acre this year was 120 bushels. In clover seed the county produced 2,322. Nevertheless, the county was second only to Winnebago-co in the production of clover for hay, which was 2.5 tons per acre. The condition of her best crop was 89 per cent normal. The milk price on Nov. 1 was $1.93 per hundredweight against $1.86, the average for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin's corn harvest approaches that of the 1921 record crop. The average yield per acre of both grain and silage is slightly less than last year, but the total corn average increased 100,000 acres. In the United States corn production is above the 5-year average, but 6 per cent below the 1921 crop. The crop is estimated 2,896,000,000 bushels compared to 1-

Boom Nichols As 'Comer' In Business Way

The Nichols "boom" is being heard all over the county. Calling attention to the village's modern improvements, such as waterworks, sewers, electric lights and modern homes, auditorium, bank, cheese factory, lumber yard, flour mill, fruit preserving plant, and other advantages, the Nichols Investment company is seeking to attract strangers to the northern village.

It is seeking to dispose of about 125 lots, all provided with sewer and water. A metal casket factory is being constructed which, it is said, will employ close to 150 wage earners. A newspaper also will locate there. Nichols is looking for a laundry, doctor, dentist, tailor shop, shoe store, department store, drug store, hotel, restaurant and other business houses.

WAR VETERANS LISTED AMONG JOBLESS IN CITY

C. L. Boynton, membership and employment secretary of the Y. M. C. A., says he has more applicants for positions than he can place and among them are several former service men with families. The present situation is due to the discontinuance of outside construction work, he said.

average production for the 5-year period of 2,831,000,000.

IDEAL HARVEST

An almost ideal harvest season increased the forecast of potato production in Wisconsin to 39,000,000 bushels. The harvest in 1921 was 21,420,000 bushels. The yield is 17 bushels per acre better than the 10-year average yield. The United States crop was 434,000,000 bushels, compared to 347,000,000 in 1921, and the 5-year average of 373,000,000.

The state clover seed production of 294,000 bushels was about 40 per cent greater than last year. The buckwheat crop of 592,000 bushels is practically the same as in 1921. The total production of sugar beets, estimated at 118,000 tons, is 3 per cent less than the 1921 production.

BUREAU SERVES 90 IN RECORD WEEK

The largest number of letters to be received in a long time was noted by the Post-Crescent's Washington information bureau in last week's mail. The total was 90. Most of the correspondence, however, consisted of requests for free booklets on various subjects, such as Home Drying, United States Maps, Concrete, Game Laws, Rice and School Lunches.

DANCE HALL EMPLOYEES CAN'T BE UNDER 17 YEARS

Local authorities have received a copy of a resolution passed by the state industrial commission forbidding the employment of girls and boys in dance halls. The resolution is as follows:

"Resolved, That no labor permit hereafter shall be granted to any minor under 17 years of age to work in or in connection with any dance hall, dance pavilion or any street carnival, or other traveling show."

Proprietors of dance halls are notified of the resolution so that ignorance of the law may not be given as an excuse for violation.

TRUST COMPANIES GAIN BY MILLIONS

Substantial increases in trust company resources both for Wisconsin and the United States are shown by "Trust Companies of the United States," a New York financial publication just issued for 1922, which marks the one-hundredth year of trust company service in this country.

Total resources for the year ending June 30 were $12,739,620,733 against $12,323,430,513 last year, and aggregate deposits for the first time exceeded $10,000,000,000. Wisconsin reported combined assets of $14,913,536. The national resources establish a new high record and offset the loss shown in 1921 compared with 1920. The total exceeds that of last year by over $416,000,000 and is greater by $287,745,000 than the previous high mark of 1920.

Instant Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Quick Style

The quickest-cooking oats in the world

Now your grocer has Instant Quaker Oats, as well as the regular Quaker.

The Instant cooks in a hurry. It cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes.

It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

Thin flakes, partly cooked

In flavor and quality the two styles are identical. Both are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats.

We get but ten pounds of Quaker Oats from a bushel. And that super-flavor has made this brand the leading oat dish the world over.

But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked.

So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Now Quaker Oats offers you two great advantages. It offers you flavor which no other oats can match. And it offers, if you wish, the only oats that cook in from 3 to 5 minutes.

For one or both of these reasons you want Quaker Oats. Be sure that you get it, and get the style you want.

Regular Quaker Oats

Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

Instant Quaker Oats

Come in package at right, with the extra "Instant" label.

Your grocer has both. Be sure to get the style you want.

The idea of the table first originated with Thomas Chippendale, a designer and craftsman during the Georgian Period. Chippendale was glad for the opportunities such demands afforded him to devise new and unique forms. He designed a number of small tables, one of which was the Tilt Top.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

Eating too much meat may clog Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed Volgt's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to dispense Allenhu with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

APPLETON GIRL IN RACE FOR "WISCONSIN QUEEN"

The first count of votes on Nov. 23 in the statewide campaign to select a "Queen of Wisconsin" to preside with the Milwaukee exposition to be held at the Milwaukee auditorium Dec. 14 to 20, showed Miss Lenora Bravner of Appleton to be eighth in the race, with 1,200 votes.

The contest, however, is an extremely close one, and the 10 leaders are grouped very closely together and it is still "anybody's race." Mrs. Pearl Gabriel of Rice Lake was in first place with 2,344 votes. Miss Dorothy Kubs of Neenah is in sixth place with 1,465 votes.

DODGE BROTHERS SEDAN

Many women who could well afford more expensive closed cars prefer the sedan for their personal use.

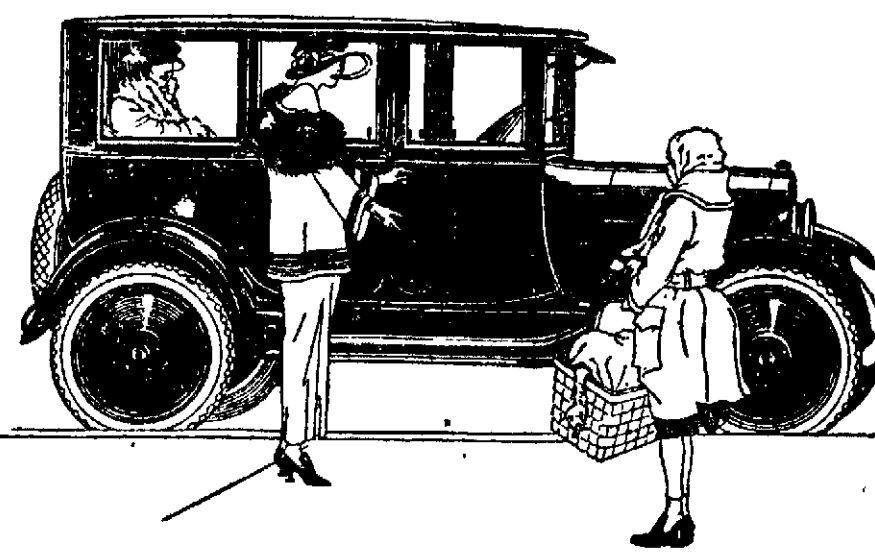

They find it easy to drive, easy to park, economical to run, and comparable in the beauty and richness of its appointments with cars much higher in price.

The upholstery is done in genuine mohair velvet of a singularly rich and beautiful pattern. The seats are roomy and luxurious. The hardware and minor fittings reflect thoughtfulness and rare good taste.

Steel disc wheels (with cord tires) screen the under part of the car and harmonize in a most effective way with the new grace and smartness which Dodge Brothers have recently brought to the lines of the body.

CHAPTER III
Lord of Valleys got up.

It was to be expected, monsieur, that the English court under these circumstances would try me for the murder of Lord Winton. I had both the motive and the opportunity to accomplish it, and the circumstances were, to say the least, indicative.

To my surprise, this manservant, Straley, came forward to establish the fact that the wine cellar was little less than a straw tick, and this Metropolitan police officer appeared to say that he had seen the hansom leaving Lord Winton's door shortly before the fire was discovered. These facts indicated the truth of my statement.

A further fact brought out by my legal advisors, established with mathematical accuracy the fact that I had not dealt Lord Winton the blow that ejected him out of life. The wound which had caused his death had been made with the small blade of a knife.

The police found in my pocket a knife with a small blade of about the width of the wound. No evidence of blood was found on this knife, but the police professed to believe that it had been carefully washed. They thought traces of moisture remained on it. The case seemed convincing, and but for one fact a conviction might have followed.

The autopsy showed that the wound which had caused the death of Lord Winton was seven inches deep. The handle of the knife with which it had been accomplished had not entered the wound. The wound was no longer than the width of the small knife blade at its exterior point.

Lord Valleys suddenly extended his hand like one who puts down some thing that is finished.

And I was therefore acquitted.

You know, monsieur, what the English law courts say. A man may be, but circumstances cannot. I may have had and Lord Winton's manservant, the Metropolitan police who saw the hansom drive away on that night, but the science of mathematics could not lie. A wound seven inches deep could not be made with a knife blade four inches long. And the case ended.

He went over to a table, got a tortoise shell box, delicately unlatched with silver opened it and presented it to Monsieur Jonquille.

"You will have a cigarette, monsieur," he said.

Monsieur Jonquille took the cigarette and Lord Valleys went back to the chair.

Then suddenly, as out of some incoming memory, the man's voice changed.

"A moment ago, monsieur, when I mentioned the arrival of the visitor at Lord Winton's house and the doubt of the English court of that fact, you said it was true. How do you know that it was true, if I may be permitted to inquire?"

The Prefect of Police balanced the cigarette in his fingers before he replied.

"I know your statement about the hansom is true, monsieur, because I know who it was that came to Lord Winton on that night. And monsieur, it is on behalf of this person that I have come to you today."

Lord Valleys was astonished but he did not move, and his expression did not change.

"You amaze me," he said. "Upon what mission from this mysterious person could you come to me?"

"Upon the same mission," replied the Prefect of Police, "with which that person went on the fatal night to Lord Winton's house in Covent Garden. Lord Winton promised to do a certain thing for this, as you call it, 'mysterious person.' He died before it could be carried out, and I have now come to you to fulfill it."

"I trust, monsieur, that you will not deny me."

Monsieur Jonquille rose. He took a folded, legal paper out of his pockets and presented it to Lord Valleys.

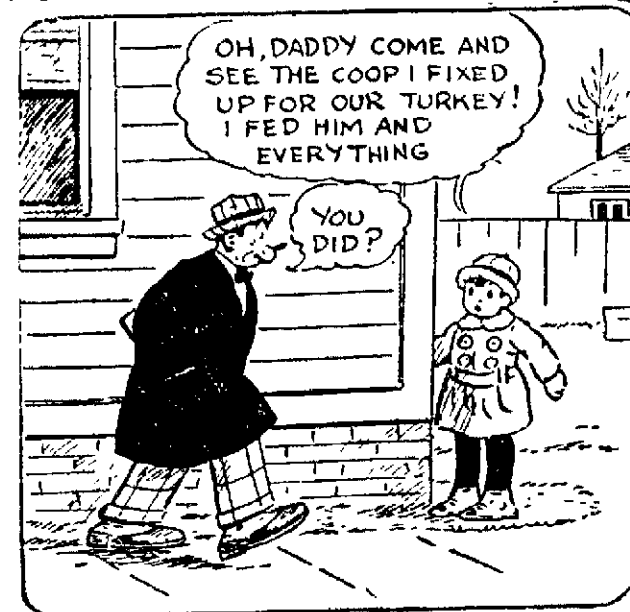

"Monsieur," he said, "Lord Winton promised to execute this indenture. He died before his signature could be attached to it. I must ask you to execute it in his stead."

Pirandello Is Making Gotham People Think

Newest Type of Show Sets Broadway's Heart Aglow as Homeward They Slink

BY MARGARET ROHE
Luigi Pirandello.
Our hats are off to you. You're such a clever fellow. Satirical and "new." The high brows dole upon you. And the morons think they do.

New York—Old New York town is all agog about a topic new. No longer is all talk confined to making of homebrew, addresses of bootleggers and the present price of booze, the Democratic comeback and the latest murder news. It's talk of Pirandello that you will hear on every hand, as you walk up the avenue or in the subway stand. You hear it over teacups at the dancery hotel teas, "Oh, isn't Pirandello grand?" It's really quite a wheeze, when you consider half the dears, just what he is, don't you know. They think perhaps he's some new drink or else the latest show, and yet they gurgles, "Yes, indeed," so you think they know.

DISEASE, OR WHAT?
Some people have him all confused with oil of citronella while others think he's a disease that's apt to kill a fella. Some think that in the movies he'll take Valentino's place. Still others, in grand opera, think he's the newest bass. But though they think him dance or drink, disease or book or man, they all talk lots about him, just to show folks that they can.

At the theater called the Princess, Brock Pemberton, you know, produced first in America, a Pirandello show. The high brows are all flocking there, the bulgy brows and low, tired business men and flappers too, and even morons go to see "Six Characters in Search of an Author" is the finish of this so novel name and from the point of novelty the play's more of the same.

Some think it is a comedy and laugh both loud and long when tortured souls in torment writhe and everything goes wrong. The portly lady sits enraptured. This is the life for her! Her husband nudges her and gasps, "What's all the shootin' fur?"

Some feel all dizzy in the head and hang on every word while others smirk derisively and think it "too absurd." Yet all agree it's gripping quite, though when they all come out there isn't one, high brow or low, knows quite what it's about.

Then home they go and read, up on the "whyness of the whence," cuss and discuss it till they find some real and hidden sense.

Although there's "Abie's Irish Rose" still running, it is true, it really is encouraging to know there are a few prefer the Pirandello play. It shows and upward trend. New York as intellectual perhaps some day will end. For once New York thought with its feet to jazz strains of "ello. This year it strains to think with brains, all thanks to Pirandello.

Ugliness Is Inexcusable, Beauty Says

Wife of Noted Author Now is in Charge of Famous Beauty Parlor

BY MARIAN HALE
We are not only the masters of our fate but of our faces as well, according to Elsie Waterbury Morris, wife of Gouverneur Morris, who was one of the first New York society women to go into business for herself, and who is proving to be one of the most successful.

When she started Primrose House, her beauty parlor, in the fashionable New York shopping district, people were inclined to regard it as a society woman's fad and to believe it would draw its patronage almost exclusively from the Social Register.

However, it was evident soon that she was very much in earnest and that she had come to preach to women a new doctrine of beauty founded on common sense and intelligence, and that she did not intend to limit her clients to any one class.

Today, there are as many business women, teachers and professional women going to her shop as society women.

ALL-AMERICAN BEAUTY
"Women of today are striving for ideals different from any they ever sought before, and they are developing a new type of beauty," Mrs. Morris says. "I call it the All-American beauty. There is quite as much of a change going on in our physical standards as in our moral standards."

"Just as dirt is no longer a badge of holiness, so ugliness is no longer accepted as a badge of purity. Modern labor-saving devices have made poor housekeeping inexcusable and scientific beauty culture, which every woman can learn for herself, makes it unnecessary for any woman to be unlovely."

"There is a reason for sagging muscles, lusterless hair, lifeless skin and the countless other defects that detract from a woman's appearance. To neglect yourself is as reprehensible as to keep your homes untidy."

"I made the statement a short time ago that I believed should be a part of every girl's education: 'Learn to take care of the outside of your head as well as the inside.'"

"Since that time I have been asked to lecture on beauty and scientific care of the skin in some of the most progressive schools of the country."

DEVELOP INNER BEAUTY
"If a girl is born beautiful, it is no particular credit to her, but if she is born with physical defects and by cultivating her mind and character develops an inner beauty which shines through her features and illumines her being, she does deserve credit. And this beauty is within the grasp of every woman. Of course no woman can cultivate her mind and character and neglect her personal appearance."

"I have seen a girl's whole appearance change when she changed her outlook on life. Also, I have seen a girl's whole outlook on life change when she realized that she could cultivate her appearance to the point where she would win the admiration every woman desires."

Then Mrs. Morris told me the story of Helen, the girl she transformed from something of a grub into a charming young woman and showed me by actual photographs what she had done.

"It was a mental, as well as a physical change. The combination transformed her," said Mrs. Morris. "It was such a startling success story I persuaded Mrs. Morris to write the story, so that every reader of the Post-Crescent could realize her possibilities."

So, beginning tomorrow, Mrs. Morris will tell you the story of Cinderella's Adventures in Beautyland. Copyright, 1922

Honeymooner's Abroad

Chapter 11 — Fascist Show Hand

By Zoe Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

COUSINS, European manager of the firm by which JACK DURTEA is employed, has rescued Jack and his bride, EDNA, from bandits near Naples. Jack, who secretly is investigating suspected duplicity of Cousins, tells his wife he believes the rescue was a "frame-up."

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Why, Jack!" cried Edna, shocked, "you'd have to be very sure before making a terrible charge against Monsieur Cousins."

"Well, I've no time to prove it," Jack spoke sharply. "But we shake monsieur in the morning."

"Please, dear—don't let there be a quarrel. What will you say to him?" Jack smiled grimly and took a telegram from his pocket.

"Come to Rome at once. Must see you; important personal business. Hart," it read.

"I wired Jimmy Hart—used to know him at school—he's in the Italian embassy at Rome—to wire me this. I'll leave it in Cousins' box and we'll light out for the Eternal City before he's up."

"Well," said Edna slowly, "I'm sorry," Jack knew by her curt comment how little she shared his suspicions of Cousins. But her loyalty placed no obstacles in the path of his plans.

Next day, in the brightness of early morning, the Durteas were speeding north on the Rome express through lovely fertile valleys and plains.

Color was everywhere, and a people who sang through their troubles and took their poverty lightly. They passed through miles and miles of vineyards, the vines festooned between high poles like gala decorations.

Picturesque ruins of castles were here and there on high hills, old gray-stone peasant houses, with occasional villas bright with newness, their plaster walls tinted pink or blue or yellow.

Color was everywhere. Lush green vegetation—dilapidated and ancient farm-houses with old women working in the fields—glaring sun—dramatic clouds—a land that looked more a stage-setting than a reality. It almost made Jack forget Cousins and business.

As for Edna, the thrill of it all, the presence of her mate next to her in the little compartment that held six seats but no other passengers, the blessed sense of sharing the novelties together, the constant excitement of the something famous to explain or hunt up in their guide-book soon dissipated the cloud of disapproval created by Jack's ungallant treatment of Cousins.

They became conscious that the train had stopped—that it had been motionless a long time. Impatient, Jack was about to investigate when they heard the tramp and voices of a party of men approaching their compartment.

Next moment appeared at its door a group of swarthy Italian youths with no friendliness in their manner. Some wore remnants of war uniforms. All carried thick canes. The leader began questioning Jack harshly and Jack rose, his arm and temper growing, his volume of American mingling raucously with the other's vehement Italian.

Jack caught the word Fascisti—the self-constituted irregular army that would rule Italy by dint of armed force—but before he could protest the young Fascisti leader ordered Jack and Edna in no uncertain terms and gestures to leave the train and go along with them.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

A Turkish marriage ceremony begins on Monday. On Thursday the bride and the bridegroom have supper together. The hour of the meal, however, depends upon the shyness or the obscurity of the bride, custom having decreed that the meal cannot be served until she shall have spoken to the bridegroom.

Experienced matrons recommend coyness to oriental brides and the latter's husbands therefore frequently have to resort to strategy in order to hasten the supper hour.

TESTED RECIPES

PLAIN LOAF

(For two loaves or 48 small rolls or 24 large rolls.)

1 pint of liquid milk or water (or both)

¼ to 1 yeast cake (depending on time given the dough to rise.

¼ yeast cake, 12 hours; 1 yeast cake 5 hours)

¼ cup lukewarm water

2 tablespoons lard or any preferred fat

2 tablespoons sugar

2 teaspoons salt

¼ cups flour

Scald liquid, pour it over salt, sugar and fat. When cooled to a lukewarm temperature, add yeast which has soaked in one-quarter cup lukewarm water. Add three cups of flour all at once, and stir and mix to a smooth batter. Add three more cups of flour, and lightly mix with a knife. Use the remaining half cup of flour for kneading the dough.

Knead dough until smooth, place in pan, closely cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Take onto board, shape into loaves—place in greased pans, let rise until light, and bake 40 to 60 minutes.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

1 quart or 3 dozen oysters
1½ cups bread crumbs (from the center of a stale loaf)
1½ cups cracker crumbs
¼ cup melted butter
¼ cup cream
½ cup oyster liquor

Salt and pepper
Slight grating nutmeg
Pick over and drain from liquor the oysters. Add butter to bread and cracker crumbs. In the bottom of a buttered dish place a layer of crumbs, over this a thick layer of oysters, adding half the cream and oyster liquor. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Repeat and on top of the second layer of oysters have a layer of crumbs. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes. Always have only two layers of oysters, as any more would leave the middle layer underdone, while the top and bottom layers would be overcooked.

YARN EMBROIDERY

Bright-colored yarns are being employed effectively in decorating certain of the new silk negligees. A running stitch here, a twist there and clever hands can lend distinction to an otherwise inexpensive slip-on.

Adventures Of The Twins

Twins Hunt Flap-Doodle

Nancy was changed into a little Chinese girl and Nick was changed into a Chinese boy.

They had first been turned into toys by Flap-Doodle, a mischievous fairy. And two kind fairymen tried to change them back again into a little boy and girl.

But there was a mistake somewhere, and instead of being Americans they were Chinese.

"Well, I don't care!" said Nancy bravely, smoothing her new silk kimono. "It's better than being a doll-baby anyway."

"And anything's better than being a wooden soldier who can't move," declared Nick. "And all my clothes were only paint!"

Suddenly he thought of something. "I tell you what let's do, Nancy," he said. "Let's go after Flap-Doodle again and try to get the Fairy Queen's wand that he stole. He won't know us at all this way."

"Oh, yes, let's, Nicky," agreed Nancy eagerly. "You call yourself Nick Oo Ting and I'll be Nan Soy. We'll get a little Chinese house somewhere and invite him to visit us."

"When he's not looking we can get the magic wand and fly off with it to the Fairy Queen's palace. We still have our Green Shoes."

Mr. Rubadub thought it a capital idea and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow said so, too. So the Twins prepared to leave Scrub-Up Land at once.

"Do you suppose Flap-Doodle is still on the Moon?" wondered Nick. "No," answered Mr. Sprinkle-Blow. "I heard him say that he was going to travel over the Milky Way to visit some of the stars. He wants to rent a new house."

"Will he go back to Tinky-Winkle Land?" asked Nancy. "Just to get his mail," answered Mr. Sprinkle-Blow. "He's afraid to stay there long as he's done so much damage."

school game for 12 of Denney's men and for at least a half dozen Nebraska. Spectators can be sure these boys who are making their last effort are going to play the hardest games of their careers.

While neither coach has discussed his plans for attack, it is believed the game will be of the open variety. Both teams are adept at the passing game and both have men who can skirt the ends for good gains. Appleton is particularly strong on passing while Beatrice, with Beckwith and Purdy, is partial to long chases around the ends.

Either style of play is spectacular enough for any lover of football. Appleton is expected to hit the line harder and oftener than Beatrice because of big Bill Tappert's presence in the backfield. Tappert can be counted on to gain consistently in straight line plunges and Gerou and Briese will rip through tackle. Both boys are winners at this kind of game.

One of the features of Thursday's games should be the rip snorting contest between Briese and Purdy. Both men must be rated above the usual high school athlete; both are playing their last games and both know they will be watched. Either man is good for a touchdown if he gets away in a broken field. The work of these two stars alone is worth the time and effort of going to Lawrence field.

Thursday's game will end the 1922 football season for Appleton. Preparations are made to take care of 10,000 spectators.

ROD AND REEL

FALL FEEDING
Most of the boys who make a fall foray after that little bucking broncho of the water plains, the bass, know that the kick they pack around with them in September and October has more pep than in any other part of the season, and also know that this kick is livened up by the cooler waters. But what makes 'em so deucedly hungry that they strike with far more freedom in the fall than even in the spring? There is one little reason that seems to be the right dope, and that is that they are carrying on a lot of extra fat to carry them through the winter hibernation, at which time they feed very little. A couple of extra pounds of fat stuck onto their bones keep the home fires burning during the winter months and they must pack quite a lot of extra vitamins to do this. It seems reasonable to figure that they follow the same law of nature as the bear, who sure does a bit of steady feeding before the snow and cold drives him to the hollow log or snug burrow in the leaves. If you have ever taken the trouble to notice it, you will find that the bass caught in the fall have more fat than at any other time; in fact, often enough to fry them in without any other grease, although the fish fried in its own grease carries a taste that is not very palatable. For the food of a king, brown 'em in a spider web stocked with good old bacon grease.

As the frost gets in its work, the shallower waters near shore become decidedly colder than the deeper waters, and the minnows frisk off to the weed beds and deeper waters for food and warmth. As a general thing, the frogs and crawfish have felt the sting of the frosty waters and have "dug in" for the winter in the mud bottoms and sand bars. This all makes things interesting for the bait caster, and the fact that some of the favorite food of the bass has disappeared from his menu seems to make the old "be-wops" develop an uncontrollable appetite for these dainties. Which is about the way with humans, when a particularly palatable tit-bit is out of season; nothing at time seems to satisfy a fellow until he has wet his appetite at a fancy price on a mid-gut dish of that particular palate tickler.

HAVENS AND OAKS WIN POCKET BILLIARD MATCH

Shooting an even game for about fifty points, Havens and Oaks took the lead thereafter and defeated Hansen and Stark 100 to 70 in the match game on the Carr and Hansen tables Tuesday night. The game was part of the tournament conducted by Carr and Hansen for the city pocket billiard championship. Oaks shot a nice stick and held the record for the highest run with 14 points.

THE splendid development of Appleton high school's football team this year is due largely to the efforts of Arthur C. Denney, assistant coach of the physical training department for boys of the school. This is Denney's first year at the local school.

Denney established a wonderful reputation as a basketball coach at Neenah where he developed three championship contenders in the three years his team went to the state tournament at Madison and finished in second place. The next year Denney's team fought its way to the finals in the district tournament at Oshkosh where it was defeated by Appleton which later copied the state championship in the Madison tournament. Last year Denney finished in third place in the district tournament. It was by far the best record ever made by a basketball coach at Neenah.

Denney went to Neenah from La Crosse normal where he attended school. He had football and basketball experience at the state school. Neenah didn't go in strong for football and consequently he was unable to show what he could do on the gridiron but he made a splendid showing here.

Coach Denney Is Developing Splendid Teams

THURSDAY, Appleton's big boys when it meets Beatrice Thursday afternoon. While Appleton can claim any pennants for state championship, the squad, one of the largest that ever answered the call of a high school coach, contains a host of championship material. TWENTY-FIVE SEEK BERTHS ON COLLEGE BASKETBALL TEAM

Practice This Week Light on Account of Coming Holiday

Enough material to start five teams reported for basketball practice at the Lawrence gymnasium this week as the result of the call issued by Coach H. D. McChesney.

Due to the holiday this week, practice was of lighter nature. Monday and Tuesday night the candidates took turns in shooting baskets. More extensive preparations for the Little Five casing season will start next week. Practice will be held both in the college gym and at the armory where the major home games will be staged.

There are about twenty-five candidates who showed up well, according to Coach McChesney. Among those most promising are: Basing, Collinge, "Bud" Kubitz, Boehm, Cook, Grover and Kotal.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD AT NEENAH BASKET GAME

Leslie Holzer's Appleton Aces are expected to bump into stiff competition at Neenah when they will meet the Twin City Boosters at the S. A. Cook armory in the Twin Cities. The game will be the first for the Legion cagers and fans from Appleton, Neenah and Menasha are expected to crowd the hall as the game will be the chief attraction Thursday evening.

Reinhart Jahnke has returned home to Port Washington after a two weeks' visit with Appleton friends. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bellis and daughter of Wausau called on Appleton friends Tuesday.

PIMPY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c. adv.

WE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN

By M. J. V. Fosse

Fishing through the ice has become so popular in the last few years that many localities are petitioning the conservation commission to forbid it, lest fishing be ruined both in winter and summer.

There are about 25 lakes and ponds scattered throughout the state which have already been closed to "ice fishing" and undoubtedly anglers who enjoy this sport in summer will do their utmost to "close their favorite lake or river" to the ice fishermen in order to promote "better fishing in summer."

The commission recently closed lakes in Forest and Langlade co. Last week Camp Lake in Kenosha was closed by another order. Residents of Waukesha have inquired how to proceed to declare a closed season on two small lakes in that county.

Fishing through the ice to the extent of "fishing for ones own use" is satisfactory, however the use of five lines (which is permissible at present) should be prohibited as one line is sufficient to get a supply large enough to garnish the family menu. According to the law at present fishermen may market their catch until Jan. 1 but from Jan. 1, to May 29 no fish may be sold. This rule of course does not effect the thousands who catch for their own use.

Government protection of fishing through the ice in winter is rather lax. For instance, there is no bag limit on perch, croppie, blue gill or sun fish, except in one county where no fisherman is permitted to have more than 25 in his possession at any one time. Bass fishing, however, has been closed in winter by the conservation commission.

Fishermen throughout the state are demanding a closed season on all fish, except trout, from March 1 to June 1, the idea being that with this protection, a much greater multiplication of fish will take place. It is proposed also to strengthen such a law by establishing a bag limit and size limit for all seasons on all varieties. Undoubtedly this may become a live issue in the legislature within a short time.

DALE HUNTERS FEAST ON LONE DEER SHOT BY SEVEN

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Dale—Local hunters returned from their trip last Thursday, the seven men bagging one deer. Will Heuer is the lucky man. On Sunday he entertained the other six and their families at a venison dinner. Mrs. Wittlinger, a former Dale resident, died at the home of her son in New London. The funeral will take place Tuesday.

Lawrence Linton has been quite ill the past week. Oscar Pribrnow left Sunday for Winnebago where he will be employed as night fireman at the state hospital. Harry Peck of Neenah spent Sunday at the Kuehn home. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Pagel entertained a number of friends at a duck dinner on Thursday evening. Miss Mary Bullett of Appleton spent the weekend here. About 25 friends of Arlo Nelson ordered him a surprise on his birthday anniversary Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. George Lett and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Froemming of Oshkosh were here to attend the party. A dance will be given at the opera house Wednesday night. Miss Leola Haak and Miss M. Hooper of Neenah spent Sunday with Miss Haak's parents.

OVERTIME BASKETS DEFEAT APPLETON VOCATIONAL TEAM

Fond du Lac Team Gets Breaks in Extra Periods and Cops Game

Three overtime periods were necessary to decide the game between the Appleton vocational school basketball team and the Fond du Lac basketball team in the game in Fond du Lac Tuesday night. Fond du Lac won 19 to 16.

Appleton led all the way and was ahead, 11 to 8 in the end of the first half. The game was 15 to 15 in the last few minutes of play and in the extra periods Fond du Lac shot two baskets while Appleton made a free throw.

Ray Turnow scored 11 points for Appleton and together with John Fumal played a good game as forward. Center Raymond Rankin scored four points. Frank Klein played the best defensive game as guard. The other Appleton guard was Theodore Radtke. Elmer Fumal subbed for his brother John. Ralph Krabbe was sub forward and Alvin Welland, guard. Steinbarth led the Fond du Lac lineup was composed of Steinbarth, Ferris, guards; England, center; Bos-towich and Reining forwards.

TWELVE CORNERS CAGERS' OPEN SEASON ON SUNDAY

HILL AND OSMAN READY FOR SCRAP ON MAT TONIGHT

Both Men Are in Good Condition for Long Struggle in Armory

While not overconfident, George Hill feels he will put at least a temporary halt to the sensational progress of Kara Osman, the speedy heavyweight wrestler whom he tackles on the mat in Armory G this evening. Osman is here in the best of condition, ready for a gruelling struggle. Hill also is in good shape from long runs and hikes and strenuous workouts with as many men as will take him on. Hill often wrestles as man yea a half a dozen men at a time and they give him all the work he wants.

Osman is a real comer. He has been training with ohn Pesek, one of the greatest grapplers in the game and is learning a good many tricks. Critics believe he will some day be the world's champion. Roblee and Pasch, two local lads, will be featured in the semi-windup. These youngsters will tip the scales at about 156 pounds. They are said to be extremely clever grapplers. Promoter Elmer Johnston has several other classy boys in the preliminaries which are to start at 8:30. The main bout will get underway shortly after 9 o'clock.

At Poultry Show

L. F. Bushey left Wednesday to attend the poultry show given this week in the Milwaukee auditorium. It is the national poultry show for Buff Lehighs and Rhode Island Whites. Kansas City, Kas.—On the fingers of 14-year-old Albert Dinnella rests the fate of his father, Antonio, who is awaiting trial here for the death of his two daughters.

For from these fingers will be made known the result of a test of strength between love of parent and grief over the loss of a life-long helper and companion, according to prosecuting officials.

When the case comes up in the Winnebago county district court in the term ending Dec. 4, the tale of a harrowing double murder is expected to come from these fingers. For Albert can neither speak nor hear, and it on the sign language of the deaf-mute boy that authorities will depend for the conviction—or acquittal—of his father.

What secret do these fingers hold? Will the body be his father's Nemesis or will he save his father from the prosecuting attorneys and police believe he boy will be a favorable witness for the prosecution if he knows his father is guilty. For they point to the fact that Albert's life-long and most cherished playmate was one of the victims for whose death Antonio Dinnella will be tried.

Helen, twin sister of Albert, had been the voice and ears of her brother—until one day last September when her body, hacked and mutilated almost beyond recognition, was found in a sack on a bank of the Kaw River. Only two days before, the headless body of their younger sister Florence had been picked up by police under similar circumstances.

FIND EVIDENCE Investigation by authorities led them to the crude shack of the children's father on the bank of the Kaw River near where it empties into the Enormous quantities of lamb skins of various kinds are regularly used in the manufacture of wearing apparel in the fur trade. While most of the skins are white, many are light or mixed grey, and a few are black.

Persian lamb finds large use in the manufacture of ladies' and children's apparel and in addition to being an excellent mourning fur, it is considered by some as being superior in beauty to any fur with the possible exception of sable.

Broadtail lamb skins have been taken from unborn lambs, but are usually taken from lambs a few days old. The tight curl and the wave of the fleece show a handsome weaver effect similar to that in moire silk. In fact, a garment of broadtail, properly fitted, will show the lines of the figure equally as well as a garment of moire silk.

Caracul is a handsomely figured, beautifully curled skin taken from young lambs before its excellent black color begins to change.

Spare does not permit us to describe the various grades of lamb skins, but we have described the three most sought after. The others are lower in quality and should be and generally are used for the making of cheaper garments than mink's apparel.

While the demand for the various lamb skins is small in comparison to the demand for the skins of many other fur bearing animals, yet it is well to know these things and always select a furrier whose integrity is unquestioned.

HOLLAND COMPANY WON'T PROSECUTE

Egvedt Is Released—Police Issue New Warrant; Case up Wednesday

Because the Holland Furnace Company officials refused to prosecute, I. O. Egvedt, local manager of the Holland Furnace Company store at 689 College-ave, who had been held in the county jail since his arrest and alleged confession of "faking" a burglary of $680.00 to cover up an embezzlement, was released Wednesday noon.

A confession was secured from Egvedt Friday evening by Chief George T. Prim. When George Mousley of Oshkosh, district manager of the company, declined to sign the complaint, Chief Prim secured a warrant on information and belief. Egvedt was arraigned Saturday, but his case was adjourned until Wednesday. Company officials appeared for him and asked for his release.

No announcement has been made as to whether Egvedt will be retained in the company's employ. A bonus of more than $1,000 is due him from the company on Jan. 1, it is said.

ARRAIGN TWO ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Nick Romanesko and Dewey Silas, whose homes at Oneida were raided Nov. 17 by Thomas Martin, federal prohibition officer, appeared in court Tuesday afternoon for their preliminary hearing. They were bound over for trial on Dec. 28, and were released on paying bonds of $500 each.

Three gallons of illicit liquor was found in the possession of Silas, who is an Indian, while one pint of the forbidden liquor was found in possession of Romanesko.

These are only two of a number of raids that have been made by prohibition agents in the town of Oneida this fall.

MANY REASONS TO BE GRATEFUL, MEN OF APPLETON SAY

Prosperity of City and Nation Evoke Expressions of Thankfulness

I am too busy to think of the other things we should be thankful for. W. H. Zuehlke—Every citizen of Appleton can be thankful to those responsible for the conception of the city plan for Appleton and to the city officials, the city plan commission and others who have given their best efforts to perfect it in all details. This is the biggest forward step that Appleton has made in several years.

Lee C. Rasey—I am thankful for what seems to be a growing spirit of interest in Appleton in regard to the schools. People are beginning to feel, I think, that the Appleton schools are their schools and that they are worth a great deal of attention. I am especially thankful for having an opportunity of meeting the 500 "dads" whom we hope to include in the Dads club with meetings once a month.

George T. Prim—I am thankful for many things in many ways but especially grateful that the people of Appleton have been paying so much attention to traffic rules. They have averted many accidents in this way. I should like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Appleton for their splendid cooperation with the police department and to hope that the same spirit may continue.

Judge A. M. Spencer—People of Appleton should be thankful to the city for the state which is not only beautiful but free of the usual crime and disorder found in most cities of its size.

George P. McGillan—I am thankful that we have had so small a fire loss and no calamities resulting from them. The fire loss in the city this year has been unusually small and there has been no loss of life.

E. L. Bachman—I am thankful that the country is more prosperous this year than last. On the whole, conditions seem to be greatly improved.

The Rev. F. E. Reuter—I am thankful to God for all things. We cannot always remember them all, but we should not forget them all.

Dr. Samuel Plantz—I am most thankful in a year when millions are starving that a golden stream of the bounty of God is poured from America to relieve the distress of the world.

Gustave Keller—When we look about the world and contrast conditions existing in other lands with conditions existing in our own fair country, we have every reason to turn in deepest gratitude to Almighty God and render to Him the thanks we justly owe. Let us therefore thank Almighty God on Thanksgiving Day for all the favors He has shown us. Let us at the same time attest the sincerity of our grateful expressions by a firm promise of more faithful service to Him, our community, our state and our country.

Judson G. Rosebush—There are so many things to be thankful for that I hardly know where to begin. I am thankful for the fact that we are out of the depression of last year with steady work for the working men and steady orders for the mills. I am thankful that Lawrence college has completed its $500,000 endowment fund and exceedingly thankful that the situation in Europe is clearing and that the danger of war in the Levant involving the great powers is apparently passed. I am also thankful for a great many personal things which are not of public interest.

The Rev. Theodore Marsh—in response to your question, what we have to be thankful for, I wish to say that on every Thanksgiving day we should gratefully think of our good forefathers thoughtfulness in setting aside a special day on which the whole nation gives thanks for all temporal and spiritual blessings. As Appletonians we should be thankful that we live in a city that is not only active and attractive, but also very progressive at that.

Lothar Graef—I am thankful for the general settlement of industrial strife which is leading to the prosperity of our nation for without prosperity we can never have a happy and contented citizenry.

BUYER OF ARMORY TO RAZE BUILDING

Structure Occupied by Herrmann Motor Car Co. Sold to Gregory Schindler

The old armory which originally was built for a skating rink nearly 40 years ago and which of late years has been used as a garage by the Herrmann Motor Car Co. has been sold to Gregory Schindler who will tear it down as soon as the tenants move into their new building on Superior-st.

The building covers part of the site of the proposed new $125,000 Masonic temple, which is to be built the coming year. Nine members of the building committee recently visited three temples in Milwaukee and others at Waukegan, Kenosha and Racine in order to decide upon what they want before engaging an architect. Other tours of inspection will be made within the next few weeks.

MOYLE IS HEAD OF NEW ADVERTISING GROUP OF VALLEY

Program of Cooperation Is Mapped Out at Big Meeting at Oshkosh

Fox River Valley Advertising club was organized at a meeting of 130 men and women interested in advertising at Oshkosh on Tuesday afternoon and evening, to promote closer cooperation in the valley. P. G. Moyle, president of Appleton Advertising club, was elected president of the valley club. William Sterling of Oshkosh, vice president, H. E. Capehart of Green Bay, secretary and H. Marsh of Oshkosh, treasurer.

The valley organization was formed at a conference in the afternoon at which H. C. Tunison of Appleton presided. Five meetings will be held by the valley club between January and June with the next meeting in Green Bay early in January. The biggest work of the association will be establishment of research groups of men in like businesses in the different cities. These will study their own sales-advertising problems and work out the solutions. The purpose of all the cooperation is to bring about a greater advertising unity in this valley, which is so thickly populated and so great a business district.

SERVE BANQUET

A banquet was served at 6 o'clock at a hall at which H. E. Capehart of Green Bay was toastmaster. Frank M. White of Chicago, managing director of the Agriculture Publishers association and J. R. Ozanne, wholesale advertising manager of Carson-Pirie-Scott company of Chicago were the speakers.

Mr. White gave an interesting array of facts and figures to show how valuable the farming community is to every city, and stressed the need for merchants to take much more of an interest in the rural man's problems.

He quoted a statement of J. Ogden Armour, who declared that a statement from J. R. Howard, president of American Farm Bureau Federation several days ago concerning the farming situation was the first utterance of the farmer in the language of business men.

FARM BIG ENTERPRISE

The speaker showed how more capital is required to conduct farms than industrial enterprises, and how the investment in farms is more than seven billions above the total in industry. He recommended a speaker's bureau for every chamber of commerce, so men versed on various subjects could go into the rural community whenever needed.

Mr. Ozanne, in his talk, told each group of business men to advertise their communities, correctly to the surrounding inhabitants and to let the "you" appeal predominate in their publicity rather than "I" and "we." He gave many suggestions for effective advertising, illustrating many with actual layouts.

Those who attended from Appleton were P. G. Moyle, H. C. Tunison, Ralph Gies, Hugh G. Corbett, H. L. Post, Leslie A. Buchanan, H. L. Hanson, Gerald Galpin, Joseph Marston, Carleton Saecker, Henry Babcock, John Mullen and Lester Balliet.

ON THE SCREEN

PICTURE SCORES BIG HIT
You've heard the old saying that because this mountain would not come to Mahomet, Mahomet went to the mountain? The patrons of Fischer's Appleton theatre who could not go to the Rocky Mountains in Canada, had them brought to them last night when "The Valley of Silent Men," a Cosmopolitan creation for Paramount featuring Alma Rubens, was again shown with much success.

Hold Auction

A large crowd attended the auction of the John O'Connor farm on the Medina-rd Tuesday. Farm machinery and livestock were disposed. The farm had been sold previously to P. C. Kaphingst.

PROCLAMATION

A custom originated in the earliest days of the United States decrees that on day each year shall be set aside for giving thanks to our Creator for the many blessings we have enjoyed in the year. Appleton has particular reasons to be grateful this year. We have been protected from disastrous calamities, we have escaped the crime wave which is sweeping over our nation, our people are contented and happy and our city is showing progress.

The gifts bestowed upon us as individuals, upon our city, our state and our nation should stir up wells of gratitude in our breasts. As we compare our lot with the suffering peoples of Europe we cannot help but be impressed that we have many, many things to be grateful for in spite of the petty inconveniences and sufferings to which we might be subjected.

In order to encourage a community spirit, I, Henry Reuter, as mayor of Appleton, urge all our people to meet in their accustomed places of worship to offer thanks to their Creator for the munificent gifts for continuance of his blessings.

Henry Reuter, Mayor of Appleton.

ENFORCEMENT OF BUS ORDINANCE IS TOPIC OF INQUIRY

Merchants Consider Complaints—Approve 1-hour Parking Ordinance

Complaints made to the retail merchants division of the chamber of commerce that the recently enacted motorbus ordinance was not being obeyed with respect to schedules were considered by that body at a meeting Tuesday morning. Holiday hours also were fixed and 1-hour parking ordinance recommended.

Several persons conversant with the situation were interviewed and the merchants then adopted a recommendation that the board of directors of the chamber of commerce investigate the matter further.

The committee was informed that attention of Theodore Berg, city at-large, had been called to the bus situation by the police. He was in court at the time of the merchant meeting, so could not appear. He said Wednesday morning, however, that he informed owners of bus lines to appear at his office so he could call their attention to the complaints.

BERG EXPLAINS

It was not the intention of the ordinance committee, he said, to make the ordinance so hard and fast that arrests would be made if the busses started a few minutes off schedule when circumstances like bad weather or traffic delayed them. However, any willful intention to disobey, or any intention of flagrant violations would be dealt with accordingly," he said. It was charged in the complaints that the busses were not leaving promptly on the hour and half hour and were parking on College-ave, longer than necessary.

Recommendation also was made to the chamber directors that the city council should be requested to pass an ordinance prohibiting parking of automobiles on College-ave between Durkee and Superior-sts. for more than one hour between 9 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It is believed this will relieve congestion and permit outside shoppers to park their machines conveniently on the avenue.

Stores will be open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of the week preceding Christmas, the merchants decided. It was believed this decision represented the wishes of the majority.

Keller Speaks

Attorney L. Hugo Keller was at Rear Creek Tuesday evening, where he delivered an address at an entertainment given by the ladies of St. Mary church of which the Rev. Conrad Ripp, formerly of Appleton, is pastor. The receipts of the entertainment were for the benefit of the church.

Police Rifles Take Heavy Toll As Parade Protest Drink Famine

MOB DEMOLISHES BUILDING

Casualties May Be Larger As Check Is Taken After Wild Night

By Associated Press
Mexico City—Federal troops guarded a badly battered municipal building Friday while the city counted the casualties of a pitched battle between the police and a mob which attempted to storm the building Thursday night. The death list, as a result of the fighting stood at 17 early Friday while 18 persons are known to have been seriously injured and 51 slightly hurt. It was thought that a closer check might reveal further casualties.

The city after a night of wild excitement found its main plaza before the municipal building, a shambles of broken glass, timbers and stone—evidence of the anger of the mob which forced its way into the building and taken their toll.

The trouble, which lasted for more than six hours, started when a crowd marched to the city hall to protest against the aldermen who are held responsible for conditions leading to the water famine. The demonstration was intended by the labor unions that organized it as a peaceful protest and several hundred persons paraded the downtown streets before proceeding to the hall to voice their adverse sentiments against the city government. These protesters were reinforced along the route and when the municipal building was reached the crowd numbered more than 2,000 persons.

By Associated Press Milwaukee—Two men were killed by automobile Thursday night and nearly a score were injured.

Eight persons have been killed in auto accidents in the last week. Nearly every death has been caused by reckless driving.

"The toll of deaths last week is appalling," Chief of Police Laubenthal said Friday. "We will send these reckless drivers to prison and put every one who drives while drunk or in a foolish manner in jail if we possibly can. These killings must stop."

Three men are held as a result of the accidents. Two of them were injured when a car in which they were riding turned over after knocking down four pedestrians and striking two other autos.

Hermine Takes Charge; Ousts Gen. VonMoltke

By Associated Press
Doorn, Holland—The first change in the former Kaiser's household since Princess Hermine took over the reins is the departure of Count Von Moltke the court marshal. The new "em press" has signified her intention of instituting a regime which will be directly opposed to the policies of Von Moltke.

The dispute between princess Hermine and the retiring marshal is said to have arisen over the question of whether the Kaiser should confine himself to Doorn castle.

The former emperor's bride favored more freedom of movement for her husband, but this was contrary to the wishes of Von Moltke who is regarded as responsible for the virtual imprisonment of Wilhelm within the garden walls.

MANN, GIANT IN HOUSE 26 YEARS, DIES

Illinois Representative Succumbs In Washington After Brief Illness

By Associated Press
Washington—Death Thursday night ended the legislative career of Representative James R. Mann of the Second Illinois district, long rated as a giant of the house.

Returning here two weeks ago for the opening of the special session of congress, Mr. Mann, who had served his people for up to a quarter of a century, took part in the preliminary work of the house. A week ago however, he was forced to stay at home because of a cold which he failed to shake off. His condition at first was not regarded as serious and it was not until Thursday afternoon after pneumonia had developed that it became alarming. Shortly before midnight with his wife and physicians at his bedside, the veteran of many a congressional battle died peacefully.

News of Mr. Mann's death was a shock to the house, for few of his most intimate friends knew of his illness beyond the statement that he had been confined to his home by a cold. On the eve of his home vote on Wednesday, one of his supporters, Mr. Mann wanted to get out of bed and go there to be counted on its side. He was told to stay at home and that while his wise counsel would be helpful, there were votes enough in sight and he would be paired. But his thoughts were constantly on the work of the house where his record of service through 13 consecutive terms, or 26 years, had earned for him the reputation among friends and foes of the best informed man on the details of government and the ever sat in either branch of congress. He was sent back for the fourteenth term by the people of his district in the election last month.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR SPOILS NIGHT ROBBERY

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Ashland—Miss Laurette Lutwitsch, night telephone operator for the Wisconsin Telephone company, saved the wholesale fruit house of George Esen from being robbed Wednesday night. About 9 o'clock Miss Lutwitsch saw the light denoting the Esen Fruit company flash on her board. She plugged in but could get no response although she could hear noises. Thinking that something might be wrong as she knew the Esen house was not open at that time of night, she called Mr. Esen at his home. He went directly to the office and found two men who had broken into the warehouse and were preparing to carry off supplies. He turned them over to the police.

Miss Lutwitsch was rewarded by the Esen company.

Freak Turkey Day Weather Spells Havoc

High winds, rain and snow was reported various sections of the northwest. Rain fell in Minnesota and parts of South Dakota, while most of North Dakota was blanketed with several inches of snow. Near the latter place 200 poles belonging to the Dakota Central Telephone company, were broken off following a sleet, light snow and winds.

OUTLINE PLAN TO GIVE FARM FEDERAL AID

Program For Financial Relief Is Decided Upon During Turkey Day Conference

By Associated Press
Washington—The administration had ready Friday a definite program of legislation for the financial relief of farmers formulated in agreement with senate leaders on both the agricultural and banking committees and to be pressed with their support at the short session of congress. Approved at a conference Thursday between President Harding, Secretary Wallace and fifteen Republican senators headed by Senator Lodge, majority leader and Senator Watson of Indiana, who had been making an active survey of the question, the plan contemplates utilization of the federal farm loan board as the agency for extension of larger and more liberal credits, both as to interest rates and time, to meet the present agricultural necessities.

The relief plan, designed to reach the small farmer as well as the large cattle raisers and grain growers, was outlined in a statement following the conference by Secretary Wallace and Senator Lodge. It is proposed by use of the farm loan board to make it available to the thousands of small farmers who need it and who, in the opinion of those at the conference, have not shared as have the larger grain and cattle producers in the credit relief afforded by the war finance corporation because of the limitation under which it has operated.

TRAIN, AUTO CRASH; FOUR ARE INJURED

Oshkosh And Fond Du Lac Couples Slightly Hurt On Crossing In "Flats"

Their Ford sedan utterly demolished in a collision with a passenger train of the Northwestern road at Ashland division station Thursday evening, the occupants, two Fond du Lac young men and two Oshkosh girls narrowly escaped death when they were flung from their car upon the street, while the car was dragged about 30 feet under the wheels of a baggage coach.

All four are in St. Elizabeth hospital suffering with painful but not serious injuries. The injured persons are George Buschbach, 28, Route 2, Fond du Lac; Hugo Schmitt, 23, West Lincoln ave. Oshkosh; Miss Josephine Lull, 27, who lives at 218 Bessie Park, 17, whose home is at 100 Powers ave. Oshkosh.

Schmitt was unconscious when he crashed. His injuries consisted of scalp wounds and a cut between the right eye and ear. Buschbach suffered a rib fracture and cuts on the hand. Miss Falk's left cheek was cut and she also suffered a contusion of the left knee, while Miss Lull's injuries consisted of a bruised back. All four probably will be released from the hospital by Friday evening.

The accident occurred at about 10:35 Thursday evening, when the automobile occupants were about to enter their homes in Fond du Lac and Oshkosh. The northbound train, No. 153, was 4 hours and 20 minutes late. Since no flagman was stationed at the crossing on Lake st at that hour, the car occupants did not observe the approaching train until it was too late. One of the men said it seemed as if he had heard a whistle but was not certain as to the direction from which it came. Wet streets also were blamed partly for their inability to see the tracks. Another car had passed ahead and crossed the track safely.

The car was removed from under the wheels of the baggage car, under which it had been dragged and twisted into shreds and pieces. On Friday morning the remnants of it were piled up in a junk heap, giving the appearance as if its occupants had been mangled in a similar manner.

CHARRED BODY IN MURDER MYSTERY

Milwaukee — With only meager clues, Milwaukee and Racine authorities Friday began wading to the bottom of a mystery in the roadside mystery uncovered shortly before noon Thursday when four boys hunting rabbits found the charred body of a man under a culvert on the Milwaukee line in Racine.

Stories of a drunken man, in which three men were said to have stopped their car to engage in a fierce fist fight near the scene of the mystery were being investigated on the theory that the man was slain his clothes saturated with oil and the body then pushed under the culvert, where a match was applied to clothing at the head and feet further to cover up the crime.

The skull of the man was crushed in three inches above the ear and examination of the body was being made Friday to determine whether there were any bullet wounds or other injuries.

Features of the youth are beyond recognition.

AUTO VICTIM IN COMA FOR 2 DAYS

Walter Swinkles, 12, Still Unconscious At Hospital— Was Playing Football

Unconscious since he was struck down Wednesday noon by an automobile driven by a man whose name is said to be George Johnson, Fond du Lac sewer contractor, Walter Swinkles, 12 son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Swinkles, Little Chute, is being watched over in St. Elizabeth hospital. He is expected to recover, however. An X-Ray examination failed to reveal any traces of skull fractures.

Julius Wait, Appleton excavating contractor, was riding in the car with the Fond du Lac contractor at the time. The latter was doing work for Mr. Wait in Little Chute.

According to Mr. Wait, the little boy was playing football on the street near the Little Chute bank. The driver tried desperately to avoid the boy and drove over the curb on the sidewalk. Yet the boy was caught by the fender and flung on his head on the street. He was taken to his home, but failing to recover consciousness, he was removed Thursday to St. Elizabeth hospital, where early Friday afternoon he still was reported to be in the same state.

Ten boys also suffered severe bruises and scratches on the face and abrasions to the skin. One eye is closed completely. The sole of a shoe was turned upward, but the foot was not injured.

SUBSIDY BILL FACING HARD SENATE FIGHT

Filibuster In Sight As Insurgents Are Outnumbered By Regulars

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The merchant marine bill passed by the house faces hard sledding in the senate.

Numerically Senator LaFollette's group of Republican insurgents and the Democratic minority will not be strong enough to defeat the measure. The question is whether the opponents of the bill will permit a vote. Filibustering tactics are always more effectively employed in the short session of congress lasting from December to March than in the longer sessions of unlimited length. There are so many important appropriation bills to be considered and passed that the insurgents might compel president Harding to call a special session in March of the congress just elected this month. That congress contains so many democrats and anti-Harding Republicans as to impair the chances of a merchant marine bill altogether.

If the president is to have his way about ship subsidies he must maneuver so as to bring the bill to a vote at the short session to be begun next week.

CANT HURRY BILL

The senate cannot be hurried into action as was the house. A special rule limiting debate was adopted by the Republican majority in the house and the measure given right of way. There is no rule in the senate. This means a prolonged debate with the possibility that the measure will still be pending when the Christmas recess is reached. After that Republican leaders will have to decide whether they will lay the measure aside or risk delay to important appropriation measures.

Mr. Harding has staked so much on victory however that Republican leaders may be persuaded to try might sessions in an effort to exhaust filibuster and secure an agreement to vote. The president has enough votes in the senate to pass the bill but several changes no doubt will have to be made before it will be acceptable to the upper house. The administration had to compromise in the lower house in order to get the bill through and is hoping that some of the provisions already eliminated will be restored in the senate.

REVOLT OF G. O. P.

The revolt of 94 Republicans in the house together with the amendments which had to be accepted by those in charge of the bill in order to prevent defeat makes the triumph of the administration of doubtful value today. The important step taken by the house in recording itself in favor of the principle of the bill is expected to have some psychological effect but the feeling in administration quarters is that the fight is only half won and that the crucial test will come in the senate.

Calumet, Mich.—Captain Mason Bernard and six members of the crew of the Canadian Steamer Maplehurst lost their lives early Friday when the ship broke up a mile west of Portage lake canal during a heavy gale. Nine others of the crew were rescued one at a time jumping from the bridge in to a life boat.

According to the coast guard service, captain Bernard and the six others lost their lives because they declined to jump from the bridge. The rescue was effected in the teeth of a gale of a hurricane proportion. The life boat ran alongside the ship time and again only to be washed back. The men were taken off one at a time jumping from the bridge into the life boat.

The Maplehurst, 200 feet long, with an iron hull, was bound from Lorain, O., to Port Arthur with 1,800 tons of coal. She sank in 25 feet of water and Friday afternoon only her funnels were visible above the surface.

CRASH, RUNAWAY INJURE TEAMSTER

H. A. Meiers, Second-ave., was injured when his team of horses ran away and flung him to the road after his wagon was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by Peter Winters, who lives with his father on the Mackville rd. The accident occurred Wednesday evening on Mackville rd., about one and a half miles north of Appleton.

Winters, who was returning home from Appleton, was driving in the same direction as Meiers. Blinded by the light of another approaching car, he crashed into the wagon, damaging the front end of his machine. The horses became frightened and ran away, finally striking an electric light post. The wagon was damaged, one part of it being left on one side of the road, the other half on the other side.

Meiers was picked up by the automobile driver and was taken home later in another car. An examination by a physician showed that Meiers suffered no broken limbs, but had only body bruises.

DAVIDSON, FORMER GOVERNOR, DYING

By Associated Press
Madison — James O. Davidson, governor of Wisconsin from 1906 to 1911, is critically ill in a Madison hospital, with little hope for recovery expressed by his physicians. Mr. Davidson was taken to the local hospital several weeks ago when he complained of a slight illness.

Thursday the former Wisconsin executive suffered a relapse and his condition has been most serious since that time, his physicians say.

BROSS LLOYD, FREE, STILL "RED" BELIEVER

By Associated Press
Chicago—William Lloyd Bross, millionaire Communist released Wednesday night from a prison sentence of from one to five years, has reconciled his beliefs in government and peasant conditions by a peace-loving proprietorship.

Lloyd announced Friday he had been convicted with 15 other Communists under the state anti-syndicalism act and later pardoned by Governor Small denied that he had changed his views. "I still believe and I still have faith," he said. "The American people are not yet ripe for a drastic change in government but it may come in five years or a hundred. It's a matter of evolution and experience."

SCHOOL OFFICERS GRATEFUL TO CITY FOR COOPERATION

Community Spirit More Important Than Football Victory, They Say

High school authorities jubilant over the victory which the team won in the Thanksgiving day game with Beatrice are rejoicing still more over the splendid spirit which the great game brought about in Appleton and the Fox river valley. The greatest achievement of the game was the community cooperation which made Thanksgiving day a historic occasion. Lee C. Rasey, principal of the school, and Leon C. High manager of athletics at the school, both expressed the gratitude of the school to the public spirited men and women of Appleton who contributed to the success of the occasion.

The game was a financial success for the school, in spite of the inclement weather. The school authorities took the precaution of insuring the game against rain and thereby collected $1,000. The insurance covered the period from 10 until 1 o'clock and it rained sufficiently in that time to make the insurance company liable.

The receipts alone were sufficient to pay all the expenses of the game and leave a balance of about $400. With the insurance the treasury of the athletic association was enriched by about $1,400. It is the first time in many years that the high school will be able to close its football season without a deficit.

Much credit for this achievement is given to Mr. High whose hard work and enthusiasm fired the students and the townspeople to great efforts. He worked untiringly to make this game and all the other games financial success and he succeeded admirably in his effort.

The Appleton Beatrice game was a great satisfaction," Mr. Rasey said. "The score does not indicate the victory."

It was an inspiration to see the boys leave their dressing rooms with a determination in their hearts to put everything they had into a great effort. I shall never forget that moment.

DR. WILLETT TO PREACH AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Dr. Herbert Willett of the University of Chicago will preach at the morning service of the First Congregational church Sunday. He is to be the speaker at the Peoples Forum meeting in the evening.

Dr. H. E. Peabody pastor invited Dr. Willett to speak, because the two are old acquaintances. They were neighbors when Dr. Peabody presided in Chicago as their churches were in proximity.

Dr. Willett will never forget it. "Feature was splendid. Their pluck and fight was there to stay. It could not be shaken. That, with their skill on the field made them an opponent with while."

The community cooperation which the school received is of priceless value. I cannot quite express my personal appreciation to the organizations and individuals who contributed their time and interest and more than that their enthusiasm."

Mr. High was greatly pleased with the spirit of cooperation which the city showed and he expressed his gratitude. "The results of the Beatrice Appleton game approach the ideals of sport which make me feel that athletics are one of the most valuable features of our high school training," he said. "We justified the promise which I made to Mr. Stoddard, superintendent of schools of Beatrice, after last year's game when I told him that it was a long way back to Appleton, especially when you have a defeat, and that we would let them know how far it was from Appleton to Beatrice under the same conditions, for we were not going to bury the hatchet but were going to cherish it."

But far more valuable is the wonderful spirit of cooperation which the game consummated. The boys on the team realized in their achievement the climax of a season's concentrated effort toward a definite goal. And we in the school realized our objective of a united community, in the larger sense. To have won the support of Oshkosh High as they would offer their band means more than winning the game. To have found the true spirit of Appleton behind the boys as it was so splendidly shown to be by the Artillery Band, the Adversing Club, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions, Eagles, and many other organizations and individuals who gave us so much of their time and effort and by the city's enthusiasm undiminished by the weather, is the real victory. If our athletes can continue to foster that enthusiasm and spirit of cooperation they are worth all else."

ROTARY ENTERTAINS FOR H. S. GRIDDERS

Appleton and Beatrice high school football teams were entertained at dinner and a program by the Rotary club in the Sherman house Wednesday evening. Prior to the dinner the Rotarians, led by Carl McKee, entertained with Beatrice school bells.

Addresses were delivered by Coach A. C. Denney and Captain Harold Biese of the high school team. Coach W. J. Hughes and Captain Layton of the Beatrice team. Dr. Fellows of Beatrice, Principal Lee C. Rasey of the local high school and H. D. Bush also gave talks. Dr. D. O. Kinsman was toastmaster.

One of the most pleasing entertainments of the evening was an impersonation by Mr. Rasey.

NOTED MUSICAL ORGANIZATION ON FORUM PROGRAM

Fullinwider's Quartet Will Feature Sunday Evening In Chapel

Fullinwider's quartet, one of the leading musical organizations of the state, will furnish the musical program at the weekly People's Forum in Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening. This quartet is in great demand all over the state for recitals and has pleased many audiences in Appleton. The music committee of the forum believes this attraction alone should be sufficient to fill the hall.

Dr. Herbert Willett, the speaker of the evening, is one of the best known lecturers on the Appleton platform. His subject, "The Church and the Modern World," is expected to answer the questions in hundreds of minds concerning the relationship of the church with the problems of today. It will be an interesting "follow-up" of the discussion of a similar problem by Louis Walis a week ago.

Dr. Willett is not only a keen student but a splendid speaker. He has the faculty of "getting his message over" in a way that his audience can follow him easily.

Sunday night's program is one of the best of the series. Officers of the Forum are eager that contributions be increased in order to meet running expenses. No admission is charged but collections are taken. These collections thus far have not been equal to the expense and effort will be made to increase them.

NATION HAS CAUSE TO EXPRESS THANKS

Optimism Is Expressed By Rev. Wright In Talk At Thanksgiving Service

That America has much to be thankful for as a nation is the opinion of the Rev. E. W. Wright, who gave the Thanksgiving address at the union Thanksgiving service in Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday morning.

Prof. F. A. Taber, Jr., played the organ prelude. Dr. H. E. Peabody gave the invocation and the Rev. J. L. Menzies read from the Psalms. A prayer of Thanksgiving was given by Dr. J. A. Holmes and special music was furnished by a double quartet composed of Mrs. C. J. Waterman, Miss M. Hutchinson, Miss Helen Taft, Miss Dorcas Jackson, Carl McKee, J. Goodrich, A. Hawks and Prof. C. J. Waterman.

The Rev. Mr. Wright spoke about the changed conditions in the labor world; how wages, instead of being demanded in proportion to diligence in toil are demanded according to what man wants. The demand is based on an output of desire not an output of industry. He stated that the great mass of people has really much to be thankful for in the way of improved working conditions.

He pointed out that as a nation America should be thankful for the prospect of better times; that she

LEGION TO ELECT NINE OFFICERS

Nine officers and five members of the executive committee are to be elected by Oney Johnston post of the American Legion at the monthly meeting Monday evening in Elk hall.

Nomination ballots have been mailed to all members, and these are to be filled in and handed in at the meeting.

A "fight" is to be the entertainment feature following the business session, but the committee refuses to divulge whether it is fistie, verbal or otherwise.

should rejoice that hopes for peace in Europe seem brighter and that there is an abundance in America to meet its own needs and those of other parts of the world. The Rev. Mr. Wright also gloried in the fact that higher ideals and standards seem to be really winning in America.

Film At Congregational Church Will Picture Child Sufferings

"Alice in Hungerland," a film of unusual human interest will be shown at 7:30 Friday evening in the Congregational church. The picture deals with the relief work in Armenia and tells the pathetic story more fully than words could do.

The pictures were taken by the camera man as he followed Red Cross workers along the highways in Armenia as they picked up suffering children who in many cases were so weak from lack of food and clothing as to be unable to walk. The film tells the story in pictures of the need for help among the misused Armenians and especially portrays the in-

Justice and suffering inflicted upon the children. No admission will be charged.

THE UNITED STATES AND LAUSANNE

Each day's reports confirm the earlier suspicions of shrewd watchers that the American "observers" at the Lausanne conference on the Near east are not going to be observers at all, but envoys in everything but the name. Mr. Hughes, careful not to give our participation any formal aspects for fear of waking the Bora-bloc in congress, has nevertheless seen that very large American interests are concerned in the territories under dispute and that we shall have to talk as well as listen.

Mr. Hughes in fact desires our "observers" to make it plain that "non-Moslem" interests in the Near east must be protected. If we had a full-fledged envoy on the job he could do no more, for that is the very center of the Turkish problem. So far "non-Moslem" interests have been protected by the allies only through the dubious method of telling non-Moslems to move out. This is the situation in Thrace, where thousands of miserable Greeks have been moved away from their homes forever, as the only means the civilized world could suggest to save their lives.

Nobody else has been protecting "non-Moslem interests." If Mr. Hughes succeeds in doing it his "observers" will be the busiest figures at Lausanne. The Turks are on the warpath against any internal interference with their half-baked system of peremptory justice, and they have just won a victory over Greece which they choose to consider a victory over all the allies. The principal point of the "freedom" they desire is a recognition that in Constantinople, in Anatolia, in Thrace, everywhere throughout their recently expanded domains and even in zones where the allies are supposed to be protecting their own interests, the Turk shall henceforth rule and do as he pleases.

One split after another between Great Britain and France has made it apparent that the United States may even have to become a negotiator between these nations before a sufficiently bold front is patched up to scare the Turk into doing what Mr. Hughes is determined he must. Indications are we are in the Lausanne conference up to our necks.

PROPOSED FEDERAL DIVORCE LAW

The General Federation of Women's clubs will have introduced in the next congress a federal marriage and divorce law, prepared by Mrs. Edwards Franklin White, deputy attorney general of Indiana. Should the contemplated legislation lie outside the powers of congress, the association intends to try to have an enabling constitutional amendment adopted.

The proposed law would prevent hasty and foolish marriages and make divorce more difficult. It would require public notice of marriage or publication of banns, two weeks in advance of a wedding. It would permit divorce on only five grounds, these being infidelity, incurable insanity, cruel and inhuman treatment, conviction for an infamous crime, and abandonment for one year. Neither party to a divorce could remarry in less than one year after the granting of an interlocutory decree.

This legislation would mark decided advance in the welfare of society. Efforts to have it enacted will be more creditable to the federation.

COURAGE OF ALLIES REVIVES

Declarations that the Italian Fascisti are ready to join with the allies to cool the effrontery of the Turk Nationalists will strengthen the powers of Europe in calling the Kemal bluff. Foch's positive assertion that the allied forces would be able easily to outmaneuver and defeat the Turks cannot fail to have a depressing effect on Turkish boldness.

The petty, fermenting states of Central Europe would not dare to rattle their swords while the Italian soldiers were armed and in marching order. As far as Trotsky's red soldiers are concerned, they are a color scheme in bolshevik diplomacy. Italy's stand would tend to preserve peace in the agitated section of Europe, and the allies could give their attention to Kemal's scornful fighters. Suddenly, therefore, the situation of the insolent Turks is changed for the better.

THRACE, THE HYBRID

Thrace—not that great northern region the ancient Greeks confounded as the birthplace of the northwind, nor the classic Thrace of Homer, but a hybrid land of poor farmers of three races, Turk, Greek, Bulgarian, ridden by war and persecution first by one controlling nation and then another, cut into two political parts by the north-and-south river Maritza and into a dozen potential parts by scheming politicians—is the first bane of contention between Turk and ally at the big conference in Lausanne, Switzerland.

This miserable little scrap of earth, scarcely visible on a world map, would probably be equally misgoverned whether won by Turk, Greek or Bulgarian. Certainly the Greek control of it, like the recently dislodged Greek control of Asia Minor, has not been reassuring. Yet such is the heat of argument over the question of whether victorious Turkey shall possess all or half of it that France, England and Italy have been driven into a close alliance against their grumpy inclinations in order to prevent a revival of Balkan warfare. Turkey wants, not only what she used to have before the World war, but what is known as "western Thrace"—the little wedge along the north coast of the Aegean sea which Bulgaria covets for an outlet to save her ships the trip around by way of Constantinople.

It is interesting in this regard that the allies seem definitely to have discarded the self-determination policy of Woodrow Wilson and his Versailles colleagues in refusing to sanction a plebiscite west of the Maritza, which the Turks probably would win. They want no more upper Silosias and no more isolated, poverty stricken Austrias. They will settle the nationality of these people on the basis of the best economics and the safest politics. Abandonment of "open diplomacy" as applied to parties who are liable to abuse it is not the only new characteristic of international conference revealed at Lausanne. The world grows practical. It doesn't want its order disturbed again by Balkan foolishness, and is conspiring together for whatever scheme holds the best prospects of peace. Thrace is not worth another World war, nor a Balkan war.

ANTI-SHAKERS

The League Against Hand-Shaking winds up its annual meeting by the members absent-mindedly shaking hands with each other as they part. That's the force of habit, inherited through the centuries from the days when a man extended his fighting hand to convince a friend that he didn't intend whacking him over the head.

This peculiar league believes that shaking hands is a very dangerous practice, frequently responsible for the spread of contagious diseases. It is interesting as showing to what length germ terror will carry men, though we may doubt whether any member in good standing would refuse to accept our paper money, which ordinarily passes through many hands. And the scientists have established that there is practically no danger of germ transmission through paper currency!

RICHES BY THE DROP SYSTEM

The younger Rockefeller illustrated the same and safe way of becoming a multi-millionaire with the elder Rockefeller's economies in striking example. It is so utterly simple in method, so sound in principle, feasible in practice that why any one remains poor becomes of those things for which there never is any reasonable accounting. All one has to do is see. The ocean gives apt illustration of the idea. We learn from the "Little Drops of Water, Little Grains of Sand, make the mighty ocean and the beautiful land." Leaving out the sand and the land, which we use here, merely for rhyming purposes, we limit ourselves to the ocean. It will suffice.

Now, says Rockefeller the younger, using Rockefeller the elder as immaculate exemplar in getting ourselves a place in the sun of multifarious millions, save the drops and salvage the ocean. Only he said it in different parts of speech, to the effect that his father added $50,000 a year to his profits in just one oil refinery by having one drop of solder deducted in the sealing of each can of oil. But first get your flock of oil refineries.—CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL TRIBUNE.

THE MEDICINE CUPBOARD

Well, friends, you will note that we have quite a formidable array of materia medica in our collection—26 items in all, and if I had a substantial wagon full and gasoline torch and a banjo and some whisks here I could sing you a touching song about these 26 items. But those days are gone forever, save at a few country fairs and in some of our city parks where the city fathers do so much to uplift and educate the masses with attractions such as the flying leap thru fire or the public suicide of the parachute jumper. Let us imagine that some such spectacle proves a fizzle and the poor chap only rips off a few fingers, thus disfiguring the mob and cheating the educational authorities. Well, we rush to the medicine cupboard and get it.

Tincture of Iodine.

Tincture of iodine is a solution of iodine in grain alcohol. The standard tincture of the United States pharmacopoeia is nearly three times as strong in iodine as the standard tincture of the British pharmacopoeia. Tincture of iodine is brown in color, and anything purporting to be colorless tincture of iodine isn't iodine at all, but some other chemical compound like ammonium iodide, the uses and effects of which are quite different from those of tincture of iodine.

Whether tincture of iodine is the best first aid application for fresh wounds is scientifically debatable, but practically such treatment proved fairly satisfactory in the world war, soldiers carrying small capsules or vials of tincture of iodine to apply immediately to wounds. There is nothing else that I know of preferable to an immediate swabbing of minor cuts, abrasions or open wounds with tincture of iodine as a safe disinfectant. One application is enough, then the dressing should be immediately applied, with particular care not to touch the wound with fingers or with any article that is not sterilized (free of germs).

Tincture of iodine may be painted over swellings from inflammation or injury—but one coat is enough for a week, as a rule, if blistering is to be avoided. The purpose is counter irritation, and possibly some iodine is absorbed, acting as a stimulant to the reparative process. Ringworms, warts, canker sores within the mouth, mosquito and other insect bites, hangnail and styes may be relieved, cured or absorbed by the judicious application of iodine.

A teaspoon of iodine in a quart of water makes a good antiseptic solution for use as a gargle. One or two drops of iodine, taken in a glassful of water every day for three or four weeks each spring and autumn will prevent going in young persons.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bone

I am a girl 13 years old. Whatever Dr. Brady says is just the same as law at our house, so I wonder if you will help me answer some questions we are debating on in my class. 1. What foods build up bone? 2. What foods make hair grow? 3. Does cutting or singeing make hair grow?—(Marie R.)

Answer—Fruit, milk, meat, potatoes, bread, butter, candy, nuts, cereals, greens, relishes, cake and pie supply bone building material. 2. Pie and cake relishes, greens, cereals, nuts, candy, butter, bread, potatoes, meat, milk and fruit supply hair growing material. The fact is, little lady, that every wholesome food supplies material for every organ, tissue or cell in the body. 3. If cutting made the hair grow I ought to have an elegant mop by this time, whereas, alas, the more I have it cut—but singeing—now you're shouting! Singeing, I do believe, tends to improve the condition of the hair. Most singers have pretty good hair, except the basses who don't really sing but just rumble. But don't confuse this with singeing, which never improves and often injures the hair.

The Big Wags and the Little Wags

Kindly repeat the solution you gave a year ago for lice and their eggs.—(P. R.)

Answer—Saturate the hair for three hours with a mixture of equal parts of kerosene and vinegar, and wear over this a towel or bathing cap, and keep carefully away from flames or fire. Then shampoo. If any lice are found next day repeat the treatment the following day, and each alternate day till lice are no longer found. The nits (eggs) are glued to the hair shafts near the scalp. They are best removed by drawing strands of hair thru a cloth wet each time with wet vinegar.

Salt and Water

Is there any harm in using one teaspoonful of salt in a glass of water as a physic?—(Miss M. P.)

Answer—A great many valetudinaires have some such habit, usually a pint or more of hot water is taken each morning on rising. I think it is better to drink cold or cool water, a pint or more, on rising, without any salt. This seems to serve the same purpose, and in some instances probably health is impaired by an excess of salt in the food.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion.

DOUBT KANSAS INDUSTRIAL COURT WILL BE ABOLISHED

Whether Governor Allen's dream of industrial peace is to be listed among the casualties resulting from the sanguinary engagement of November 7 seems to be as much a matter for editorial argument as it is the Kansas Industrial Court itself. The governor-elect has declared that by electing him chief executive the voters of the state have decisively repudiated the court and that its abolition is assured. There are elements in the case, however, which lead editors to doubt that Mr. Davis's election can be interpreted as conferring such a mandate, or indeed, that it will even come to pass.

Mr. Davis is apparently not without warrant in his declaration of his intention "to abolish the Industrial Court, the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR (Boston) concedes, since "this party has for some time stood in opposition to that particular enactment. . . . But there are some reasons to suspect that the significance of the issue may be misunderstood, and "it is not entirely clear that the desired has been unequivocally expressed to take what many regard as a backward step."

Interpreting his victory over his Republican opponent, who was vigorously supported by Governor Allen, as repudiation of the Industrial Court seems to the NEW YORK WORLD "a reasonable view" for the governor-elect to take, because "the Industrial Court was a big issue in the Kansas campaign," a point which Governor Allen's paper, the WICHITA BEACON, concedes. But there were other issues and other elements, editors note, which raise the questions put by the PHILADELPHIA EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER, "will Kansas do it?" when it comes to actual discontinuance of the Kansas system.

In the opinion of the MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE "it is going out of the way to say that the electorate of Kansas has set the seal of its disapproval on the court," and furthermore "it happens that Mr. Davis hasn't a great deal to say about the fate of this much discussed tribunal." From a near view the KANSAS CITY TIMES declares unequivocally that Mr. Davis "was not elected to repeal the Industrial Court Law" and he "is not going to do it." The TIMES gives its reason for making this statement somewhat minutely.

"The voters who elected Mr. Davis did not have the Industrial Court law in mind," it says, "otherwise they would have manifested that fact. . . . The farmers of the state elected Mr. Davis, and elected him because he is a farmer. . . . But while voting for a farmer for governor, who was running on a platform declaring for the repeal of the Industrial Court law, they elected a Republican legislature on a platform declaring for the maintenance and enforcement of the Industrial Court law. . . . There was nothing whatever in the Kansas vote to indicate that the farmers of the state wanted the Industrial Court changed or repealed. And they took the precaution to elect a legislature that would not change or repeal it."

"There is no indication," the SPRINGFIELD UNION adds, "that the Republican legislators are inclined to overthrow an institution from which much public benefit is expected," and the BOSTON TRANS-CRIP is confident that "we need not look for any reversal of the record."

Nevertheless, the precise meaning of the election seems to be a matter of opinion and interpretation, for the WICHITA EAGLE, for example, declares no less emphatically that "the people of Kansas for the first time have spoken their mind on the Industrial Court at the polls. They want none of it." "It is quite possible," as the LOUISVILLE POST sees it, "that it was the reaction in national politics and not the unpopularity of the Industrial Court that dragged the Republican party down in Kansas. But, so far as the thing may be registered at a single election, the voters of Kansas seem to have given a mandate for the abolition of the Industrial Court."

"It will be thrown out," the MOBILE REGISTER predicts, "and there will be few mourners." Mourners are, however, to the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN "abandonment of the tribunal at the present time would be an unfortunate outcome of a freak election." While "probably the Kansas court has made mistakes," and "possibly has become unpopular," still in the opinion of the paper "it is worth a longer trial, and even if it is abandoned at this time it may be expected to reappear as the logical complement of the existing judicial system, and as the guarantor of industrial peace." The BOSTON HERALD also says "sorry the Kansas court is likely to be abolished. The country really owes some thanks to Governor Allen and his state for undertaking an experiment that the whole nation has watched with interest." But, the HERALD continues, he has "made the mistake of assuming that it is more than an experiment. He has advocated its adoption in other states ere it has been in operation long enough to justify itself for efficiency in the prompt and equitable settlement of labor disputes."

Granting that the extent of power which a Democratic governor will have in a Republican legislature is problematic, especially with reference to so heated a question, still, the NEW YORK GLOBE thinks, "it is probable that persistent hostility on the part of the state executive can wreck the court." In the opinion of the GLOBE, "the loss of the Kansas court will not be greatly deplored by those who give as much as second thought to industrial issues. The Industrial Court was a vehement

Mirror Not New; Looking Glass Is

(From La Prensa, Madrid.)
When earth's first cave woman bent over the clear water of a river and found her picture in it, the idea of the mirror was born.

The idea soon became popular. Did not Moses tell of the mirrors of the women in Israel and did not the book Exodus describe how the Hebrew women left their hand mirrors at the entrance of the tabernacle lest they should offend the sacred place by human vanity?

In Greece and in Rome wealthy people adorned the walls of their houses with polished, shining plates of copper, gold, or silver. The pieces were square, provided with a nicely carved frame and were polished afresh by slaves every day so that their masters and mistresses might look at themselves in the metal mirrors.

To judge from ancient manuscripts even the looking glass was not unknown in remote ages, a looking glass after our fashion, with a metal frame and a glass.

Up to the fifteenth century, however, Europe did not know the glass mirrors. These were first made in Venice and acquired an enormous fame which they have held to the present time. It seems as though no other city is able to rival Venice in the manufacture of mirrors.

Tiny, inconspicuous mirrors were constructed for a couple of centuries. Not until the time of the 18th Century, the art of creating big and even giant mirrors was invented in France, in the well-known looking-glass factory of Saint Gobain.

Not on dressers only, but everywhere in a house or palace these glass mirrors were used as ornaments and even adorned the outside of the houses.

Nowadays the looking-glass factories produce mirrors of great dimensions and of perfect quality. The whiter—or rather the more colorless—a mirror is, the better it serves its purpose. The light ray which comes through a mirror to the human eye are twice broken, and it is necessary that they be not changed in regard to their shade or be weakened while they are reflected by the looking-glass.

The Question Box

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. When did kings first begin to use the plural "we?"

A. This custom began with King John of England in 1199. The French and German sovereigns adopted the custom about 1200.

Q. How long after an invention has been in use can a patent be filed?

A. An application for patent may be filed legally within two years after an invention has been in use.

Q. What is the derivation of the word tariff? J. Z.

A. It is from the Arabic "ta'rifa" meaning a notification or inventory from "arafa" to know.

Q. Is it true that Liberty bonds due in May 1923 may be recalled in December 1922? G. H. B.

A. According to Treasury Department Circular No. 220, notice is given that all 3 1/2 per cent Victory notes which are distinguished by the letters A, B, C, D, E, or F prefixed to their serial numbers, are called for redemption December 15, 1923 before that date, on the option of the holder subject to certain rules and regulations.

Q. What is the meaning of the character R seen on prescription blanks?

R. D. W.

A. It signifies "recipe" derived from the Latin "recipio," and means "take."

Q. Are all of the Great Lakes the same elevation above sea level? L. M. M.

A. They differ considerably. Lake Superior is 602.63 feet above mean sea level. Michigan and Huron are 580.56 feet above, Erie 572.50, and Ontario 246.56 feet above.

Q. Please suggest a way to store beans for the winter. R. D. R.

A. A shallow bin is recommended for this purpose. If the beans are damp, shovel them over once or twice. If thoroughly dry, beans will keep for several years.

Q. What is the value of a modern passenger train? R. H. N.

A. An express train of the kind of the limited between New York and Chicago represents an investment in motive power and rolling stock of approximately $250,000. The engine alone costs $55,000.

gesture, but it was ineffectual. It was based on the idea of compulsion at a time when more than ever men prized liberty. Furthermore the compulsion applied was unequal. . . . Any compulsory arbitration law by its very nature must be inequitable. Because the tribunal has been so vigorously fought on both sides of the industrial arena it is not unlikely that the legislature may willingly yield to the incoming governor's recommendation. . . . At any rate, the NEW YORK CALL is "glad that the workers in Kansas have at least used their political power to the extent of electing a governor pledged to work for the repeal of the Industrial Court law."

Automobiles Kill More Americans Than War Did

Automobile accidents kill one person on an average every 40 minutes, or 35 a day, on American highways and streets. While you are reading this article at least two Americans will be injured in motor accidents.

More Americans than were killed in the World War are being killed and injured in automobile mishaps this year. The total will be about 13,000 persons killed and approximately 40,000 injured—many of these maimed for life.

One-third of these will be children, not yet 15 years old. Nine-tenths will be pedestrians, run down by autoists.

Figures compiled for The Post-Crescent in a nation-wide survey, show that in 1921, lives of 11,022 persons were snuffed out by automobiles, and approximately 35,000 were injured. These figures, compiled from vital statistics records of each state, represent the most complete check ever made of the American juggernaut's fearful harvest.

Motor fatalities will kill more people this year than typhoid, malaria and smallpox combined. They will exceed the deaths from appendicitis and equal diphtheria fatalities—and in most cases, they could have been avoided.

And instead of decreasing or remaining stationary, the per centage of automobile fatalities is steadily increasing, despite all efforts to regulate traffic.

FATALITIES ON INCREASE

Increase in automobile traffic and corresponding increase in the per centage of automobile fatalities per 100,000 population is shown in figures for cities and counties where accurate death statistics are kept. Figures for these localities show that:

In 1917, with 4,983,340 automobiles licensed, there were 6724 deaths in auto accidents, or a death rate from this cause of 9.0 per 100,000 population.

With 6,146,617 automobiles in 1918, there were 7525 fatalities, or 9.3 per 100,000.

Autos numbered 7,588,848 in 1919. There were 7968 persons killed, or 9.4 per 100,000.

In 1920, with 9,211,296 automobiles licensed, there were 9103 fatalities, or 10.4 per 100,000 population.

There were 10,448,362 licensed automobiles operating in the United States in 1921. In the U. S. Census Bureau's registration area, which contains 82 per cent of the nation's population, there were 10,368 deaths, or 11.5 per 100,000 population.

Between 1917 and 1921, therefore, the death rate per 100,000 population from motor vehicle accidents increased about 28 per cent.

This year, there are nearly 11,000,000 motor vehicles running in the streets and roads of the United States. Everything points to the highest automobile death toll in history, the greatest record of violent death from any single cause except war.

CALIFORNIA LEADS

California shows the greatest number of automobile fatalities per 100,000 population, and one of her cities, Los Angeles, has the highest automobile death rate of any American city of more than 100,000. There were 889 fatalities in California last year, or 24.1 deaths per 100,000 population. Los Angeles' rate is 27.9, with 170 fatalities last year. This was a decrease from 24.4 in 1920 for California, and an increase for Los Angeles from 27.1.

Mississippi has the lowest record for auto deaths, the rate being 2.7 per 100,000. South Carolina is second with 4.5.

Despite all their traffic police, their safety commissions and their other efforts to minimize accidents, the large cities present the highest death rate. Compared with the national death rate of 11.5 per 100,000 population, the death rate in 65 American cities last year was 15.8. The safest city in the United States is New Bedford, Mass. It decreased its automobile fatalities from 16 in 1918 to half that number in 1921, or 6.4 per 100,000.

New York State, with 1623 auto deaths in 1921, shows a death rate of 15.4. In the first nine months of 1922, the Empire State had 1219 fatalities. New York's fatalities in 1921 totaled 896, or 15.6 per 100,000 residents, with 701 deaths up to Oct. 1 as the 1922 roll.

Cities with the highest ratio of automobile fatalities, following Los Angeles, are: Youngstown, O., 24.3 per 100,000; Kansas City, 20.8; Chicago, 20.3; Albany, N. Y., 20; Bridgeport, Conn., 19.5; Lowell, Mass., 19.3.

"ACCURATE COUNT IMPOSSIBLE"

"Yearly deaths from highway traffic accidents are variously estimated at from 12,000 to 35,000," declares William P. Eno, international traffic authority. "I doubt that even official figures give a true picture of the extent of auto fatalities."

Students Hold Holiday Party At Dormitory

Russell Sage dormitory was the scene of much fun Thursday evening when all the students of Lawrence college who did not go home for Thanksgiving had a party in the reception rooms. Part of the time was spent in lustily singing Lawrence songs which from the "pep" displayed proved Lawrence spirit was running high. Stunts and games for entertainment had been planned by the young men, and the coeds furnished the inevitable "cats." A fire in the fireplace added to the homelike environment.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Hazel Popp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Popp of Clintonville and Roy E. Koester, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Koester, 707 Main-st., took place at the parsonage of St. Paul Lutheran church at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. The Rev. T. J. Sauer performed the ceremony. CREAMERY OWNERS VOTE TO ORGANIZE NEW CO-OP FIRM

Seymour Business Men Lend
Aid To Retain Local Ownership Of Plant

Special to Post-Crescent

Seymour—Stockholders of Seymour Cooperative Creamery company voted at an adjourned meeting Wednesday to reject offers of three dairymen to buy or lease their plant, and will retain it in their own possession through a reorganization plan which the owners voted to accept.

Under the proposed plan a new company will be organized with sufficient sales of stock to provide money to take over the plant and permit of a liberal working surplus with which to place the business on its feet.

Members of Seymour Chamber of Commerce voted to raise a prescribed amount if the farmers in the cooperative company would subscribe enough shares among themselves to put the deal across.

It is believed the plan will be successful, because stock amounting to several thousand dollars was subscribed at the meeting. The officers intend to canvass a number of stockholders and patrons to dispose of the remainder.

This decision of the company is proving pleasing to a large number of people in this locality because the desire was to have ownership of the plant retained locally.

High School Auction Gives Holiday Cheer To 48 Needy Families

More Than $750 Is Raised At Most Successful Charity Event Ever Conducted By High School

Shortly after 7 o'clock Wednesday evening 48 Appleton families were made happy for Thanksgiving day as the result of the annual Senior auction of Appleton high school, which took place in Armory G. Wednesday afternoon. Proceeds from the auction, which amounted to $750, were used to buy baskets and barrels of food for families whose needs had been thoroughly investigated by city welfare agencies and turned over to the high school students for help.

Automobiles left the high school at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, carrying the baskets and barrels, all of which had been numbered so that there was no mistake. Each driver and helpers were given a city map with the addresses to which the barrels were to go.

Those who missed the auction missed one of the most interesting and exciting events of the year. For weeks every senior in Appleton high school had been busy with his committee for the sale. No efforts were spared, either by the teachers or the students, to make the charity fund event of the year the biggest in the history of Appleton.

More than 1,500 people visited the armory during the afternoon, where Lee C. Rasey and Harry Clark auctioned off 600 pounds of candy, more than 1,000 doughnuts and 25 special cakes not to mention hundreds of apples, cookies and other goodies. Many things were donated for the auction by merchants, all the way from picnic hams to writing paper and wool socks.

FANTASTIC COSTUMES
Most of the students went to the sale dressed in costumes which were befitting the name of their pool. There was the Gump family from the high school faculty, the Gold Dust twins, countless lumberjacks, many girls in knickers, several groups of negroes, Happy Hooligans, people from the funny papers, toradors. Each group of students had been previously formed into a pool which was officially represented by a treasurer who took care of the combined finances, and a bidder, who did all the buying.

Competition among the groups ran high in the bidding and many things were sold for fabulous prices. Doughnuts were auctioned by the dozens, cookies by the boxful, small boxes of candy in lots of ten and twelve. The proceeds of this auction were at least $150 more than either of the preceding ones.

The organization of the senior class in preparation for the auction was one of the best things which has happened to the students this year. Each student was a member of some committee and each committee had its part to do and was willing to help with the others. The charity end of the auction was one of the best examples of organized giving that Appleton has ever seen.

INVESTIGATED FAMILIES
Not one family was remembered by the high school students until its needs had been thoroughly investigated by one or more of the city welfare organizations. In order that there could be no possible duplication of gifts, the name of every family assisted was listed at the Red Cross office with the secretary of the Appleton Welfare council.

It was impossible to wait until after the auction to prepare the baskets for distribution, so the committee in charge of the purchasing approximately the amount which would be gained from the auction and bought its supplies early in the week. In order that the giving might be practical, the ages and sex of each of the children in each family was determined as well as whether the father was living. In some baskets stockings and underwear were included for the children besides the staple groceries. At least 300 pounds of sugar was distributed. Potatoes, rice, cheese, rolls, fruits and chicken were included in amounts suitable for the size and need of the family.

KEPT STUDENTS BUSY
On Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning the high school dining room looked and smelled like a very busy grocery store, while students cut cheese, weighed sugar and measured out rice according to individual lists for each basket. Each basket was numbered to correspond to the family which was to receive it in the evening.

While all this was going on in the dining room, the finishing touches were being added to candy boxes and donations for the auction by other groups. While grocery boys were bringing things into the school for the baskets, students were loading trucks with the things which were to be auctioned off.

From every possible angle, the third annual senior auction was a success. The spirit of cooperation between the teacher advisors and the students was in itself a thing much worth while. The interest aroused in the city over the school event was valuable to the city and for the school.

The money which was spent for provisions in the baskets was something in the neighborhood of $500. There were some slight expenses in connection with the auction, but there will probably be $100 left to be used during the year for charitable purposes.

SCHMIDT ALTERS STORY OF HOLDUP

Northwestern Ticket Agent Is Being Questioned In Jail
By Authorities

Elmer Schmidt, night ticket agent at the Northwestern railroad station, who was detained by police following the holdup in the station in which a masked bandit is said to have forced Schmidt to open the safe and give up about $502, still is being held.

Chief George T. Prim, who has been working in conjunction with J. W. Blue and William Morgan, special agents for the Northwestern road, has been questioning Schmidt in jail. He still adheres to his story of the robbery, but has changed the details of the window episode. When questioned by the police as to why he did not clamp the service window down upon the robber's hand and step aside, he answered that he never opened the window. He at first hesitated to tell about opening the door at once, he said, because it is contrary to rules to admit strangers into the room.

"Phonofilm" Name Of German Talking Movies

Picture Houses Will Be Able To Eliminate Orchestras And Organs As Music Is Registered With Play

By Associated Press
Berlin. Despite the fact that success has crowned the efforts of German inventors at producing the "phonofilm," it is foreseen that the use of this kind of movie will not supplant the ordinary "movies" in the export trade. The hands-on is obvious, since a film produced in Germany could hardly be expected to find a market abroad where the language would be sufficiently understood to make its showing profitable.

Promoters of the invention see a possibility, however, of some day making this type of film eliminate the necessity of having orchestras in movie theaters.

HEAR, SEE PHONOFILM
Two special showings have been given in Berlin recently in which inventors revealed their achievements in making sound synchronize perfectly with the movements pictured on the screen. Besides a demonstration during the middle of August at which a number of newspapermen were shown the "phonofilm" of Leo de Forest, of New York, there was recently exhibited before several hundred invited guests the "Tri-Ergon," an acoustic film invented by Hans Vogt, Dr. Jo Engle, and Joseph Maschke.

Five devices form the backbone of the "Tri-Ergon." They are the kymograph, or "electrical ear," a special amplifying conduit, an ultra frequency lamp, the photophone, or "electrical eye," and the statophone, or "electrical mouth."

NEED OF TRANSFORMATIONS
Seven transformations are accomplished in order to effect synchronization of sound and movement in the film. The sound waves to be reproduced are first transformed into electricity, the electricity is converted into light, the light is changed in two separate stages into the silver blackening of the negative and positive films, these in turn are retransformed into light, the light again became electricity, and finally the electricity produces the vibrations conveying sound.

The "electrical ear" naturally is the first apparatus to come into play. Its outstanding feature is an ordinary metal funnel in which the sound waves are conveyed to pass through a nozzle. Opposite this nozzle is a glowing rod through which a stream of electricity courses. As the rod becomes heated it influences the surrounding air so that this is "ionized," making it capable of conducting a current. Secondary electrical glimmers thus appear bridging the space between the nozzle and the rod. These flashes represent the electrified sound waves.

These waves are magnified by the special amplifier and are fed to the construction that is of such construction that it reacts to any sound, covering wave intervals all the way from only 16 to as many as ten thousand a second. Its light grows stronger or fainter with the volume of the sound. Its rays produce small stripes along the side of the film. These stripes represent the sounds and run through the film in exact coincidence with the movements in the picture. The interval between them varies according to the wave interval. The line of stripes runs 50 centimeters removed from the picture itself.

In the reproduction of the sound, an intense light stream passes through the stripes to the "electrical eye." The "eye" is a bulb through which an electrical stream passes. Its interior surface is partially coated with a chemical substance possessing the property of separating electrons. As this process develops, the conducting power of the photophone increases. The electrical stream passing through it increases or diminishes with the volume of the sound waves.

ELECTRICAL MOUTH
These phenomena are again amplified and recovered by the "electrical mouth." This instrument comprises mainly a membrane 30 centimeters in diameter which is vibrated by electricity rather than by magnetism. It is claimed to be the first actually workable telephone capable of transmitting loud speaking.

Thus the sounds issue out into the air from the membrane at the same time the picture is projected. The "kymophone" element is eliminated entirely, yet to a person in the audience the sounds seem to be coming from an instrument of that kind set where the picture appears.

At the public demonstration the program included sounds as varied as a pig's squeal and the tunes of a barrel organ, to arias from leading operas. A short speech of introduction was given by the same means in German, English and French. One number was a recitation, other features were vocal and instrumental, and one act of a drama was reproduced. In the last mentioned, the tinkling of a hand-bell rung by one of the characters was heard coinciding with the movement in the picture, and the footsteps of actors walking about a bare floor were reproduced realistically in another section of the program there was the very life-like barking of a dog, and the sounds of the animal's claws could be distinctly heard as it moved restlessly about on a wooden bench.

Generally speaking, the reproduction appeared to function better for static sounds, such as the notes of the xylophone, flute, clarinet, and mandolin. In violin and cello playing, and in singing mechanical scraping such as one hears from a worn record on a talking machine.

Instant Quaker Oats
Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Quaker Oats flavor has won millions the world over. This brand dominates wherever oat lovers live, for we flake it from queen grains only.

Now there's a quick-cooking Quaker, made from those same queen grains. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

The oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small thin flakes cook quickly.

Say which you want. In either regular or Instant you get the finest flavor oat flakes ever had. In Instant you get the quickest-cooking oat dish in existence.

There are now those two great reasons for insisting on this brand.

PIMPLES ON FACE FOR FIVE MONTHS
Hard, Large and Festered, Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble was caused by eating too much sweet food. My face broke out with hard, large, red pimples that festered over. They were scattered all over my face and itched and burned a great deal. The trouble lasted four or five months before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After a few days they afforded relief, and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Arthur E. Sandmann, 3916 Denison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 2, 1922.

GOVERNOR HITS AT WATERWAY ACTION

Criticizes Morgan For Starting Suit Against State of Illinois

By Associated Press
Madison—The hopes of Lake Michigan ports for a deep waterway to the Gulf would be shattered by success of litigation recently commenced by the state of Wisconsin in the United States court to restrain the state of Illinois from diverting waters of Lake Michigan to the Chicago drainage canal, Governor J. J. Blaine asserted

Tuesday in a letter to Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee.
The governor intimated that action would be taken to dismiss the action initiated by Attorney General William J. Morgan, when he leaves office Jan. 1. He asked Mayor Hoan as "the mayor of a great city destined to become a great port on Lake Michigan as soon as there is adequate water transportation, to discuss with interested parties, the consequences of the pending litigation so that a policy for further handling of the case might be decided on by Wisconsin."

"DOESN'T UNDERSTAND"
Madison—Failure on the part of Governor Blaine to understand the purpose of the action commenced by Wisconsin against the state of Illinois to restrain the diversion of waters of Lake Michigan, was given by R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, as the cause of his criticism of the present attorney general for bringing the suit. Mr. Hoyt is handling the litigation for Wisconsin.
"In our complaint before the United States Supreme court we ask only that the state of Illinois be enjoined from diverting water in excess of the amount which the court shall determine to be reasonably required for the purposes of navigation in and through the drainage canal," Mr. Hoyt said. "It is not our purpose," he added, "to in any way interfere with a water route to the Gulf, but the state of Illinois by its excessive use of lake waters is hurting navigation in Wisconsin harbors and it is that condition we are seeking to remedy."

PEGGY MARSH TRIES 6 MONTHS' SEPARATION
London—Peggy Marsh, who sued the Marshall Field estate for the support of a son whose father she alleged was the late Henry Field, is back in London and says she is returning to the stage. She says she may divorce her husband, Albert L. Johnson, but they have agreed to try a six months' separation first.
"I not only loved him, but I still love him," she said, "but he is so temperamental and high strung that I decided we had better part for six months to see how things develop."

ASKS APPLETON'S SCHOOL WEEK AID

Acting Mayor Beske in Proclamation Urges Observance Of Education Week

A proclamation has been issued by H. R. Beske, president of the common council, acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Henry Reuter, calling upon Appleton citizens to cooperate with the American Legion and educational bodies in observing American education week, Dec. 3 to 9.

The proclamation is as follows: "Whereas, the week from Dec. 3 to 9 has been designated as American education week in the United States by the American Legion, the National Education association and the United States bureau of education, and whereas, during this week it is desired that all citizens give their attention to the furtherance of American ideals, to the spreading of information, instruction and inspiration for the schools, and to the consideration of education as a prime requisite to Americanism,

"Now, therefore, I, H. R. Beske, acting Mayor of Appleton, request that the citizens of Appleton cooperate with the above-mentioned organizations in the observance of the week Dec. 3 to 9, officially known as American education week."

H. R. Beske, Acting Mayor.

RADIO PATTER

FEEL RADIO TALKS

The deaf will feel concerts broadcast by radio!

That is, if the invention of a Londoner can be adapted for use in connection with the radio receiving instrument.

This Londoner, S. G. Brown, has invented what he calls an ossiphone, a device which will enable a deaf person to hear through his bones.

The invention consists of a small rectangular box, the greater part of which is taken up by an electromagnet, with an iron bar between the poles. The bar is such that it can be made to vibrate when the slight impulses of radio are sent through the magnet.

Extending from the magnet and bar is a key with an ebony knob. When the instrument is connected to the phone switches of a radio receiving set, a deaf person can hear the concert merely by placing his knuckles against the knob.

WORKS LIKE PHONE

When it is desired to hear another person in the same room a transmitting instrument, called an "aural box," is used in connection with the

It Started Something

"I have not said anything to you, but have been saying to others and have induced many to take your medicine and be convinced. May's Wonderful Remedy is correctly named. It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ossiphone. The aural box is connected through a set of dry cells to the ossiphone. Speech entering the aural box can be heard in the same way broadcast sounds are heard, through the ossiphone.

There is, however, one kind of deafness which, Brown says, his ossiphone cannot overcome. That is the deafness that is due to disease of the aural nerves leading to the brain. For this, it is said, no instrument has as yet proved successful.

But where deafness is due to merely a physical cause, affecting only the outer or even the middle ear, the ossiphone has proved successful. Instead of merely energizing, or magnifying, sound, this instrument transmits the sound vibrations through the bones of the body to the aural nerves that have remained unharmed and through these to the brain.

Scientists, who have put this instrument to test, say it has produced satisfactory results.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nevertheless, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance, which is so attractive. adv.

ON THE SCREEN

Elaine Hammerstein comes to the Elite theater today for a 2 days presentation of her newest film-play, "Evidence." Niles Welch, who has supported her in the more recent Selznick plays in which she has appeared, is again Miss Hammerstein's leading man with Constance Bennett, who was with her in "Reckless Youth," once more heading the feminine contingent in support.

"Evidence" presents vistas of fanciful condition on the stage and in society. An actress marries into a family of snobs and gets just the treatment she anticipated. Facing these unhappy conditions the actress is making good headway until an actor, bent upon revenge for a jilting, steps into the scene and attempts to compromise the girl. Enter now a seion of the snobbish family to overpower her with his inexorable demands for a divorce.

"If I must be divorced," says the actress, "I'll at least choose my own correspondent"—and she chooses the overbearing snob who would not listen to her explanation. Because of the clever manner in which she presented her, "Evidence" there is no likelihood of a divorce—because there was originally not the slightest grounds for action.

In turning the tables on her tormentors the actress proves that she is a better "actress" than she has been given credit for being—proves that a woman with wit and self-assertion can battle against odds and still win an easy victory. The "trick finish" that "Evidence" carries as a prelude to happiness for hero and heroine is one of the cleverest "dodges" the scenario writers have yet devised.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles. Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Schlitz Bros. Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. adv.

REVISE RULES FOR FUSED S. S. BODIES

W. W. Hughes, Formerly Of Appleton, On Committee To Revise Constitution

The constitution of the International Brotherhood of the Future Teachers of America was referred to a special legal committee at the meeting of representatives of different denominations in the association at Oshkosh. W. W. Hughes, formerly of Appleton, is chairman of the legal committee which will make some revisions of the constitution. Another meeting will be held on Dec. 15 to complete plans.

The Wisconsin association has been affiliated with the national association of school and religious education known as the Sunday School association of the Council of Religious Education. The state of organization under the same name has become in use and has not decided upon a new title.

Part of one of the largest denominations of the Protestant church were represented at Oshkosh and all the smaller ones will be urged to have representatives at the December meeting. It was decided that the number of representatives allowed each denomination would be determined by the number of Sunday school pupils. The number for the first delegate will probably be up to 100 and an additional delegate for every number over that. The Methodist church has by far the largest Sunday school attendance in this state and is allowed two delegates, one from each of its conference.

DEFINE RULES FOR HIRING OF MINORS

Dance Hall Employment Barred—Child Must Have Nine Years Of Education

No labor permits may be granted to children under 16 years of age to work in any dance hall, dance pavilion, street carnival or other traveling show, according to a resolution adopted by the Wisconsin industrial commission. The order has just been called to the attention of W. S. Ford, director of the vocational school.

For the purpose of clearing up any misunderstanding, the commission said the requirements that the child under 16 to whom a regular labor permit is issued shall either have com-

Fine For Chest Colds Too And Is Cheaply Made At Home

When you can make in two minutes a world-beating remedy that acts directly on the membrane and often overnight causes stubborn coughs and even hard chest colds to disappear why trifle with things that will probably disappoint?

Hawking and snuffling and also soreness of the mucous membrane go and you will feel fine in almost no time.

Just get one ounce of Parmin (dou-ble strength) add to it a little sugar and enough hot water to make a half pint and you've got an inexpensive remedy better than you can buy—try it mixed.

Its soothing, healing action on the membrane is the reason so many people use it for Catarrh and acute nasal colds.

Galoshes Or Long Skirts-- Which? None Dare Predict

The battle of the galosh and long skirt is on. The fate of one depends on the popularity of the other and the betting on the part of the merchants is about 50-50. It is the old story that you never can tell what a woman will do that keeps the merchants up in the air.

The galosh is the most sensible thing that women ever wore on their feet, said one veteran shoe man who has weathered many seasons of buying shoes, over shoes and rubbers.

Just as long as the vogue for low shoe remains the women will have to wear something to protect their ankles because the fair sex is not as vigorous as some of the girls would have us think. If the long skirt looks hideous with galoshes, and I admit that it does then the long skirt will have to go. I'm betting that the women will stick to galoshes.

It is absolutely impossible to fit spats to all women, said another shoe man. I know of nothing that gives greater dissatisfaction because of the spat fits around the foot it will not go around the ankle of the majority of women. Galoshes are being made in very neat styles and they are sensible but doggonit women do not wear clothes because they are sensible. If the long skirt proves to have a greater artistic value than the galosh it will be sensible galosh.

The women will be flappers won't they? questioned another dealer. If it isn't their galoshes flapping about their legs, it's these confounded long skirts with all their flapping and flapping trimming. The fate of the galosh? Well you buy shoe styles for women for a while and you'll either go crazy or else get immune to our prices. Wool here replaced the galosh to some extent for street wear.

played the eighth grade in school or shall have a tended school nine years exclusive of kindergarten attendance is statutory.

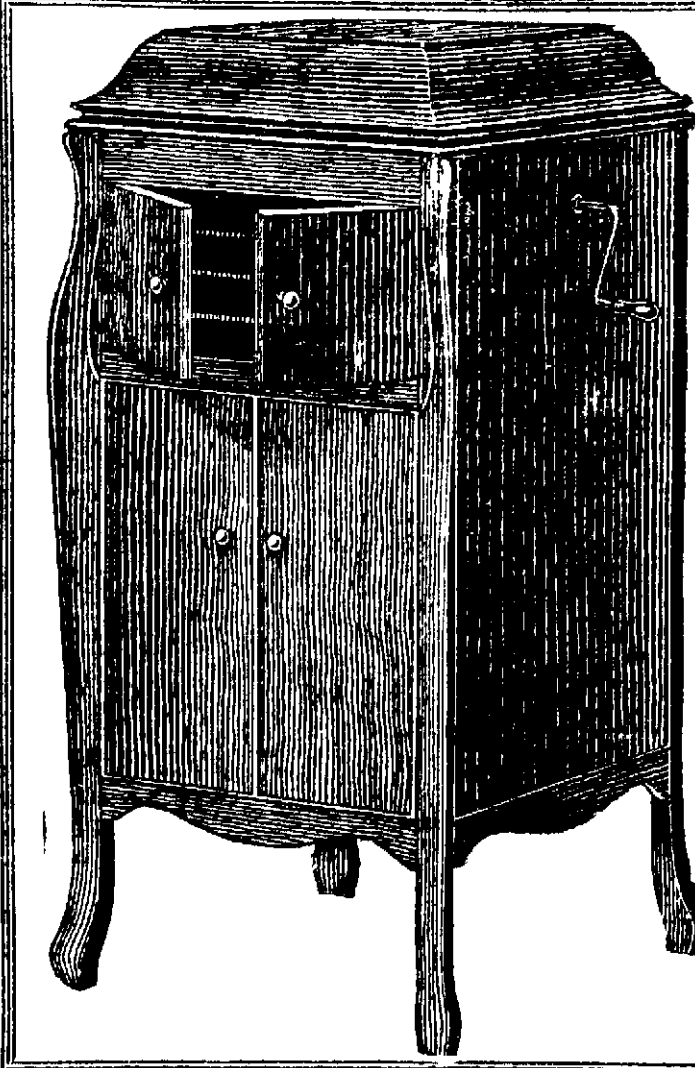

With reference to the nine-year attendance provision, the commission urged that care be taken to carry out the spirit and intention of the statute. The intention is that the nine years attendance shall be nine substantially full and fair years. If the attendance falls below this standard, no matter what the reason is, the statutory requirement is not met.

TOO MUCH MEAT HURTS KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other says a well-known authority, because the uric acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torrid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used by generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer irritates thus often ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

Announcing SOLITE GASOLINE

A PERFECT

Today we offer for the first time a super-motor-fuel, SOLITE GASOLINE

FOR years we have made 18 kinds of gasoline, each developed to meet a specific need. To this list of quality products we now add Solite Gasoline—the latest development in petroleum refining.

Solite Gasoline is for the many motorists

- who prefer a more volatile gasoline
- who demand an instant, rhythmic purr from their motors
- who want more than so called "high test" gasoline
- who are willing for these reasons to forego economy of operation.

We have never been satisfied to make merely a high-test gasoline for power purposes. We have preferred to wait until our staff of petroleum engineers could develop a more volatile gasoline, without sacrificing any essential quality necessary in a motor fuel.

We have accomplished our purpose. Solite Gasoline represents a distinct achievement of the refiner's skill.

Heretofore we have made only our popular Red Crown Gasoline for power purposes. We will continue to market and recommend Red Crown Gasoline for maximum power at minimum cost. There will be no lowering of the quality of that powerful, economy fuel.

In our enthusiasm over the new Solite Gasoline we shall not indulge in superlatives. Prove the merits of Solite Gasoline. Try it in your car today.

The price? Surprisingly low considering the unusual merits of this new and better gasoline.

Get it at any Standard Oil Service Station in Appleton, and at Most Garages

RICH MAN'S KIDS MISS LOTS OF FUN, MESSENGER SAYS

New York Youth Tells Why He Doesn't Envy Pampered
Children

New York—What does a boy who works for his living think of the little children of the rich?

Leo Schliephaak, 16, messenger boy No. 1622, was asked to answer the question.

Leo was given a handful of pictures to look at—Baby Robert Goetz, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goetz, called the "hundred-million-dollar baby," young John Jacob Astor, son of the multi-millionaire lost on the Titanic, Anna Hewitt, $2,000,000 heiress of the late Peter (Coney) Hewitt, Gloria Caruso, who inherited a big share of the famous tenor's millions, little James Paul Donohue, grandson and heir of the late F. W. Woolworth, "Bubbles" Luckenbach, daughter of Mrs. Edgar P. Luckenbach, an heiress to more than $1,000,000, Sonia Phipps of the wealthy steel family, and John R. McLean, eldest son of the millionaire Washington publisher.

What Leo thinks about it follows:
BY LEO SCHLIEPHAAK
Messenger Boy No. 1622

I am 16 years old and rush telegrams for a living. I never wrote a piece for the paper before, but to get in good with the editor, I told him I would write my idea of what this picture gallery of rich kids looks like to a messenger boy.

A fellow might think rich kids have it pretty soft with butlers and coachmen and palaces and prize dogs and a couple of million dollars in sight when they're 21. But when you think it over you get to admit there's a lot of drawbacks to this lap of luxury business.

I wasn't born with any golden spoon in my mouth like they were. But when I use a spoon on my three square meals a day I know who paid for the spoon—and the food, too. That's me—I paid for it. I had to cut school when I was 14 to do it. But I go to night school when I get a chance, and the work doesn't hurt me—except pounding pavements keeps me rather thin.

Baby millionaires like the Astors and Woolworths and Goetz and Carusos maybe never will know anything about playing hooky or having a good scrap or picking their pale without an O. K. from the nurse or the tutor.

Maybe when they're 14 they'll be wheeling in fashionable schools in limousines—when I was getting my first job delivering typewriters at $14 a week. Pretty good for an errand boy, I thought.

When they go for a walk it's with a nurse and a couple of pedigreed pups. When I go I deliver a telegram, and if it's a long-distance job I get 2 1/4 cents for it, and 1 1/2 cents for every other message I've got in the book.

Say, they may have millions in the safety deposit vault. But I've got $150 saved up in the bank. And I'll bet they never get the chance to throw out their chests the way I did when I stepped up and deposited my first dollar.

My uniform may have a few gray spots on it, but that's a lot better than wearing velvet pants and having a governess stand around with a whiskbroom in her hand saying "Naughty! Naughty!"

I guess I envy the rich kids once in a while—but not when I think about it. Why, those kids even will have their reading matter picked out for them. I read what I want. His story and the lives of Roosevelt and Lincoln are pretty good, and I put my nose in the dictionary whenever I can. This stuff about messenger boys reading dime novels is bunk; I never read one.

Messenger boys don't all smoke cigars and shoot craps either. I don't. If a kid isn't rich he can play marbles and things like that. I guess some rich kids think marbles are something they decorate hotel lobbies with.

Probably I wouldn't know how to act in front of a butler, but I meet lots bigger men than butlers. And when I tell them to sign on the dotted line they do it—for a telegram, I mean.

Kids with a million dollars are all right—but I guess they haven't got everything.

KOEPE CAR DAMAGED IN COLLISION WITH FARMER

Two automobiles collided at the corner of Oneida and Pacific streets early Thursday evening. One was driven by Lawrence Koepke and the other by a resident of the county whose name Mr. Koepke does not know. Mr. Koepke's car had only slight damage but the other car had a wheel torn off. In attempting to avoid each other the cars ran onto A. A. Wettengel's lawn, which was slightly cut up.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM ONLY OBSTACLE TO AUTO DEVELOPMENT

Man Who Refuses $150,000 A
Year Salary Fights
Wall Street

New York—Would you take a salary of $150,000 to $150,000 a year if you could get it?

There is one man whose reply is "No."

It is W. C. Durant, pioneer automobile builder, who has just sky rocketed into the public eye by entering the low priced car field on the same plane with Henry Ford.

The startling fact that Durant refuses to take a salary, now known for the first time, is one thing that he will not talk about. It can be stated, however, that he not only has not drawn a salary during the years that he has been a leading executive in automobile industry—but he has never turned in an expense account.

Durant's proudest achievement is that in less than two years he has built up a group of motor companies that have 105,151 corporate stockholders. Only two corporations exceed this number, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

That is the sort of public ownership of industries that this country needs, said Durant. "Workers who make and use a product should own the producing industry. It is the greatest possible educational factor, the only sure cure for labor ills and social troubles."

The day of sharp distinction between the so-called capitalistic and working classes is passing. The wage earner's greatest weapon is the ownership of stock in industries it takes the danger out of capitalism and spreads financial independence among the masses of people.

Durant admitted that in some respects he holds the same views as Henry Ford. The parallel is not in wide distribution of stock ownership for the Ford industries are owned entirely within the Ford family but in a common war against Wall Street.

The control of industry by a small financial group also is passing," he said. "The fact that within less than two years more than 100,000 persons have supplied millions of financial backing for our new motor companies proves that industry can be independent of Wall Street."

Durant says he has not declared war on Henry Ford in the low priced automobile field.

"We put the price of our new car at the Ford level because we found it could be done," he said. "But I have no thought of a price war. It wouldn't disturb me if Ford produced a car selling as cheaply as sewing machines. I will never cut into his business. He will sell more and more year by year, and so will we."

The automobile field is so limited that there is room for both, even though we will build 215,000 low priced cars this coming year.

The one problem that must be solved is that of traffic. Highways are being built exactly parallel to railroad development two three and four road systems are already beginning and I see in the future a network of highways with separate sections for passenger cars and trucks, each with one way divisions.

"Thus America can absorb many times the 10,000,000 machines that are now in use. The greater problem is in the cities. Perhaps double decked streets will be the solution."

Durant, following up this subject has just written to the Merchants Association of New York urging the appointment of a commission to study the traffic problem. He wants merchants everywhere that unless a solution is found there will be such rapid growth of suburban and community center stores that downtown groups of mercantile shops will not be able to survive competition killed by traffic congestion.

SOO LINE MAN GAINS 20 LBS. FEELS FINE

For a man seventy-one years old to gain twenty pounds certainly seems remarkable but that is just what James L. Dixon, 233 Ninth-st. Milwaukee, Wis., declares he has done by taking Tanlac.

Mr. Dixon has been a railroad man for forty years, sixteen years of which time he was a railroad shop foreman. He is now employed as machinist for the Soo Line at North Ford du Lac. Mr. Dixon said:

"When I began taking the medicine I only weighed one hundred and fifty-four pounds and I now tip the beam at one hundred and seventy-four. I couldn't give much better proof than that of the value Tanlac has been to me."

Before I took Tanlac I felt tired and worn out all the time and was just dragging around with scarcely enough strength and energy to do anything or get anywhere. My appetite was so poor I was eating very little or nothing. The gas on my stomach would set my heart to flitting a mile a minute so as to speak and at times I would nearly smother. My nerves were all undone. I could not sleep and felt so depressed that I was all stooped over. Well Tanlac has done away with all my ailments and built me up until I feel as spry and active as I did at forty or fifty."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

BRUNSWICK RECORD NO. 2331 — 75c

For some time we have not recorded as charming a waltz song of the strictly legitimate type as "While the Years Roll By." Against a gorgeously tinted orchestral background, the White Way Quartet sings that very fetching song, "No Wonder I'm Lonesome."

Just received another shipment of "Thru the Night"—that unusually pretty waltz.

As Goes Tailored Prince So Follow Styles Of Men

Male Members Of English Royal Families Set Style For Dandies Of London For Centuries

By Associated Press

London—The male members of the royal family have for generations set the styles for masculine wear in England, and therefore indirectly for the entire world. This has never been more pronounced than at the present time, and the fashion makers watch with unwearied eye for the least change, or the appearance of a new style, in the royal garments.

It was the Prince of Wales who introduced the small checked bow tie, the colored collars, and the fancy socks so popular a few years ago. Since the prince first appeared wearing a morning coat, soft shirt, and turned over stiff collar, this has been the standard wear for the man about town. The prince is in the habit of wearing his hat, particularly the silk variety, slightly tilted, and today old men and young men may be seen with headgear similarly arranged at any time of the day or night on the fashionable thoroughfares of the West End.

The latest contribution of the prince to the fashionable world, however, is the dinner suit, or tuxedo, which has generally been avoided by the best dressed men as being too informal for formal occasions, and too formal for informal necessities. Few tuxedos have been worn in London in the past, as compared with their wide use in America and they were rarely used for the theater.

The prince appeared in one at a dinner party before his trip to the Far East and since that time the dinner jacket has made great inroads into the popularity of full dress attire.

His royal highness appeared a few weeks ago at a dinner dance attired in a dinner suit of black with a faint white strip, vest of black silk trimmed with a fine white edge, and a black bow tie, also with a white edge. Now the latest dinner suits shown are of this cloth. The dandies of the West End appear at their favorite haunts dressed in the prince of Wales' latest.

The coat for winter street wear for the coming season will be of heavy material, huge collar and probably belted, for the prince appeared in such a coat at a recent gathering in Scotland. Golf attire is not ignored by the royal family and the newest outfit for the course is a knickerbocker suit of homespun, wool vest of bright colors, and checkered cap. This is the attire worn by the prince when he recently "played himself in" at St. Andrews.

ANALYSIS NEEDED TO KEEP AIM CLEAR

Purposes Of Organizations Will Show Their Value, Werner Declares

In Appleton, as in other places, the comment often is heard that community life is overorganized. Many are inquiring as to the purposes and values of the numerous organizations they are invited to support, and organizations are subjecting themselves to self-analysis, it is pointed out by George S. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

"This is a healthy tendency," he said, "and it is to be hoped that it will continue. The more the public searches into the nature of the organizations which have grown out of vital needs, as the Y. M. C. A. has done, the better the public will understand its problems. One aspect that deserves comment is how best to keep the emphasis clear that the purpose behind every Y. M. C. A. activity is the spiritual one. The young man should be given all around development, that of body, mind and spirit.

"If the association were merely a club where at a small price men and boys get advantages of physical training, educational opportunities and healthful social contact, it would still be worth all it costs the community. But the ideal of the association is practical religion permeating every activity of life."

MAY BAR MAIL TO BAD BOX OWNERS

Postmaster Serves Final Notice On Rural Patrons To Fix Receipts

Rural mail patrons who have persistently ignored requests of the local postoffice to rectify mail box conditions so as to comply with the United States postal regulations may one of these days look in vain for the rural carrier.

An inspection made last spring of conditions on various routes showed a large number of irregularities, such as decrepit posts, illegal boxes and poor approaches. Patrons were notified by Gustave Keller, then postmaster, and a number of them made the necessary corrections. About 80 per cent of the patrons are now complying with the regulations.

Patrons who ignored the notification were sent a second notice. This fall another inspection was made by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke and the negligent patrons were notified as before. They have been asked to explain why they have not corrected conditions, failure of which will subject them to withdrawal of rural postal service.

RURAL SCHOOLS AID EDUCATION WEEK

Superintendent Jenkins Instructs Teachers To Arrange Programs

Teachers, parents and pupils, in rural districts are asked to take cognizance of American Education Week, Dec. 2 to 9, by Miss Florence S. Jenkins, county superintendent of schools. Programs suggested by the American Legion for this week's observance have been sent out to the various teachers. These are intended to focus attention upon the educational needs of the community.

Naturalization of immigrants and duties of citizenship are to be dwelt upon Monday. On patriotism day, Tuesday, the universal use of the English language and the citizens' duty to vote will receive attention. The necessity and influence of schools and the goal of better training and better paid teachers and more adequate buildings are to be considered on Wednesday. On illiteracy day the aim of "No illiteracy by 1927" and "No immigration until illiteracy is gone" native and foreign born is removed will be stressed. Playgrounds, hygiene, forest conservation and road and soil development are matters to be considered on Saturday, physical education day.

Help the Kidneys Fight That Cold

Colds and grip cause thousands of cases of kidney trouble. In any germ disease the system becomes filled with poisons which the kidneys must filter off. All too often this extra burden weakens the kidneys. Then you have constant backache, headaches and dizziness; you lack ambition, feel dull, nervous and depressed. Don't ignore these warnings! Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Home folks recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

An Appleton Case
Mrs. Theo. H. Lembcke, 827 Meade St., says: "I was annoyed with kidney weakness and suffered with dull nagging backaches and pains across my back. I felt tired and languid mornings and had no strength or energy. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They relieved me of the kidney annoyances and removed the backaches and pains."

TELLS NEWSIES HOW BOYS SELL PAPERS IN EUROPE

Post-Crescent Newsies and Avenue newsies held a joint meeting after their respective business sessions at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening and listened to a brief address by Dr. Porter of the university of New York on "Your Brother Newsies Across the Sea."

Dr. Porter came to Appleton to address students of Lawrence college in the interest of raising money for student work in Europe, but when he reached here he found the college closed for Thanksgiving vacation.

Dr. Porter gave the newsies much information about the sale of papers in foreign countries. He said cities of 60,000 population frequently had only one newsboy, and when he made a sale he stacked his papers in front of him beside his papers as there was more than his pockets would hold. A paper in a city the size of Milwaukee frequently had a circulation of no more than 1,000 he said. He described also the makeup of the papers in some of the countries.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED

Operation Avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had such pains that I had to be turned in bed every time I wished to move. They said an operation was necessary. My mother would keep saying: 'Why don't you take Pinkham's, Henrietta?' and I'd say, 'Oh, mamma, it won't help me, I've tried too much.' One day she said, 'Let me get you one bottle of each kind. You won't be out very much if it doesn't help you. I don't know if you will believe me or not, but I only took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier when I began to get relief and I am regular ever since without a pain or a headache.

When I lie down I can get up without help and without pain. I can't begin to tell you how I feel and look. I have begun to gain in weight and look more like I ought to. I think every day of ways I have been helped. Any one who does not believe me can write to me and I will tell them what shape I was in. I am ready to do anything I can to help your medicine."

APPLETON HIGH SCHOOL WINS INTERSTATE GAME, 13 TO 0

Large Turkey Day Crowd Sees Classy Nebraskans Humbled

Beatrice Team Lives Up To Expectations But Tappert's Touchdowns And Forward Passing Is Too Much

The Badgers gave the Cornhuskers a few tips on football Thursday afternoon when the Appleton high school football team defeated the Beatrice, Neb. eleven 13 to 0 on Lawrence field before a crowd estimated between three and four thousand persons.

It was a great football contest. It was particularly a fitting game for Appleton high school to ring down the gridiron curtain for the season of 1922. Appleton high school finished the year with 250 points against 63 for its opponents and won seven games out of nine.

Football fans Thursday saw Appleton play its best game on the home field. It was the hardest fought battle Coach Denney's men put up. Without an exception members of the team finished up in a maze of glory, putting up a hard fight against the visitors and incidentally avenged the 42 to 0 beating the Cornhuskers administered to Appleton last Thanksgiving day.

LIVE UP TO EXPECTATIONS
The much touted visitors, although beaten, lived up to their advance press agenting when they held Coach Denney's men to two touchdowns. A slippery field soaked with a night and part of a morning rain, slowed up both teams. The speedy backfield of the Nebraskans perhaps suffered the most serious handicap.

Purdy, Beatrice's great quarterback, although playing a stellar game, was not as dangerous as Beckwith, left half, who despite the oozing field ran time and time with the ovals for gains. Fullback, Roland, of the visitors and Pierce at right end, also played great games. Roland threw most of his passes to Pierce.

TAPPERT, BRIESE STAR
For Appleton, Captain Briese and Tappert were the outstanding stars. Tappert was a wonder and outshine Roland in passing and his line plunging brought the touchdowns in the first and final quarters. Gerou as half did an unusual amount of ground gaining.

Quarterback Mills played his best game. The Appleton quarter used his generalship to an advantage by baffling his opponents with a variety of plays. Bonini and Stark were the outstanding linemen, with Stark figuring in most of the plays.

OUTPLAY BEATRICE
The Appleton footballers outplayed the visitors in all but the third quarter and made ten first downs to Beatrice's three. Beatrice could do little through Appleton's line and only Beckwith's fast legs going around the ends and Pierce's ability to catch Roland's throws did the trick at times. Beatrice was stopped on Appleton's 12 yard line in the third period.

Appleton's score probably would have been two or three touchdowns more if the team had not been penalized 15 yards at the crucial moments. Appleton lost approximately 135 yards on penalties. Beatrice lost 60 yards in penalties for holding and unnecessary roughness.

THEY'RE OFF
Appleton won the toss and Briese elected to defend the west goal. Briese kicked to Purdy who was tackled on his own 25 yard line by Gerou. Schell stopped Purdy and the Beatrice quarter was forced to punt to Briese. Appleton used straight line plunges with Gerou and Briese carrying the oval several yards at a time. Appleton lost the ball and Briese was chosen for two yards. Beatrice was penalized for stalling. Purdy was held and on the next try he punted from his own 20 yard line to Briese who brought it up to the 45 yard line.

Appleton made its first down on the next try with Tappert carrying the piskin. Appleton was penalized 15 yards for holding and Tappert threw a 10 yard pass to Mills. Briese punted but Beatrice fumbled on the catch and Appleton took possession of the ball on the visitor's 15 yard line. Two passes were incomplete but the third, Tappert to Briese, put the oval on the 5 yard line. Tappert smashed through the line for a touchdown and Bonini kicked but the wind carried the piskin off side.

Score: Appleton 6, Beatrice 0.
Purdy and Mills nabbed it and brought it on his own 35 yard line. Briese tried to dash through the line and gained 2 yards. This was followed by what looked like a steady march for the goal posts. Appleton got two more first downs but Appleton was again penalized 15 yards and lost half of the ground gained. Briese was forced to punt from his own 40 yard line to Beatrice's 20 yard line. Purdy set the ball sailing toward Laxton but the left tackle missed it. Then Beatrice threw two passes in the direction of the left end but they were incomplete and Purdy punted on the fourth down. Briese carried the ball to the middle of the field when the whistle blew. Appleton outplayed Beatrice and made four first downs. Beatrice had none.

TAPPERT INTERCEPTS PASS
Appleton punted early in the beginning of the second quarter. Roland threw a forward pass which was intercepted by Tappert. Briese tried a drop kick from the 35 yard line but it was wide. Beatrice took possession of the piskin on the 20 yard line. Roland carried the ball 5 yards and on the next try Beckwith was held by Bonini. Purdy punted to Tappert on Appleton's 35 yard line. Briese advanced the ball 12 yards. Beatrice was penalized and Appleton was on the 50 yard line. Kamps was sent in to replace Schell. Gerou was held by the Beatrice wall and Tappert sent the oval sailing to Gerou but no ground was gained. After another incomplete pass Briese punted and Beatrice got the ball to the 20 yard line. Roland threw a 20 yard pass to Pierce and Beatrice made its first down. Tappert intercepted the next 40 yard line. Appleton started a drive and went through the Beatrice line up to the 15 yard mark. Mills, hurt, was replaced by "Snookie" Heideman. Appleton's "sure touchdown" was wiped out when the Blue and Orange squad was penalized 15 yards. Bonini then attempted a place kick. The oval was blocked but Appleton took possession of it again on a recovered fumble. Appleton lost the ball on the 10 yard line on the fourth down when it failed to make the necessary distance by several inches. Purdy punted back to Mills on Beatrice's 35 yard line. Beveridge was sent in to replace Henry Scott. Beatrice's colored player. The teams were in the middle of the gridiron when the second quarter ended. The score was unchanged.

Beatrice came back in the third quarter with blood in its eye. Beatrice punted on the second down to Briese who ran 20 yards to his 30 yard line before he was tackled. It was a good play with Gerou offering excellent interference. Appleton failed to make downs, punted to Purdy. Briese and Bonini halted a dash. Beatrice was penalized for off side. Roland carried the piskin 10 yards but Purdy was forced to punt shortly afterward. Appleton went into scrimmage on its own 20 yard line. Appleton was held and Briese had to punt on the fourth try. Both sides exchanged punts and coaches sent in substitutes in an effort to wear down their opponents. Roland began a series of his passes which seemed to work better this time. A pass to Pierce put the oval on Appleton's 15 yard line. Beckwith shifted around the left end for 5 yards more. At the 15 yard line Appleton offered a stone wall defense and Roland then attempted a forward pass to Pierce. Appleton broke up the play and Pierce missed the sailing piskin. Appleton took the oval away. It was a very narrow escape for Appleton. More punts followed and Beatrice made another down for a cross-cross play. The third quarter ended with Beatrice in possession of the oval on its own 35 yard line.

The final period opened with Briese receiving Purdy's punt on Appleton's 35 yard line and ran 30 yards through the Beatrice team. It looked like a dash for the goal but Briese was struck on the jaw by one of the tacklers and he fell to the ground—hurt. Encouraged by their captain's gain Appleton continued a march to the Beatrice 25 yard line. Tappert threw the oval to Stark for a small gain. Briese received the next pass on a shoe string play and landed on the 13 yard line. Gerou ran into a stone wall and Briese advanced it to the 7 yard line with a few feet necessary for a first down. Briese tried a drop kick but it failed. Beatrice went into scrimmage on the 20 yard line but Purdy was forced to punt out of bounds as the Appleton team held. Appleton was playing an open game and Tappert sent the oval sailing to Briese who was tackled on the Beatrice 15 yard line. Gerou and Tappert took turns in advancing the oval. Tappert went over from the 7 yard line and Briese place kicked. The score was now 13 to 0. Coach Denney called in Mills and sent out Heideman with instructions to finish the game with passes. Four throws in succession from the 15 yard line were incomplete and Beatrice got the ball again on the 20 yard line. Purdy punted when the whistle blew.

First English Brotherhood To Play With Green Bay Aggregation

The First English Lutheran Brotherhood Bowling league, whose members have been bowling each Thursday night on the Eagle alleys, will journey out of the city to compete for alley laurels in match with the Grace Lutheran Brotherhood at Green Bay next Tuesday night.

HILL AND OSMAN WRESTLE TO DRAW IN FAST CONTEST

Turk's Body Scissors Made Useless With George's Punishing Toe Hold

Kara Osman admitted that he thought he had a pretty good body scissors and headlock until he met one George Hill. Appleton heavyweight wrestler, in the Armory arena Wednesday night, and the body scissors wasn't quite so good. Osman's plans fell through mainly because of Hill's toe hold.

The men fought for an hour and one-half to a draw although at times when either man got his favorite hold, it looked as if the bout would have terminated earlier.

The contest was a whirlwind from the start to finish. Barney Rhodes, the Green Bay referee at no time found it necessary to reprimand the boys for slowness.

Kara challenged Hill to another contest and Hill accepted. Kid Joy, who made his appearance before the wrestling fans of Appleton earlier in the season, also hurled a challenge to the winner before the tilt started. Joy makes his home in Menasha now.

The bout was originally set for an hour but Referee Rhodes prolonged it for another 20 minutes in the hope that one of the men would pin the other.

Osman applied his favorite short arm scissors and full body scissors but the Appleton wrestler was able to break it. George got a punishing headlock after 25 minutes wrestling and things looked bad for Osman but he threw himself out of danger. Osman retaliated with a short bar arm and asked Hill to give up. Hill broke it though and came back with a head scissors. George used a toe grip in practically every other hold and Osman used body scissors almost continuously.

"A dam good man," was Osman's comment once after he got out from a tough pinch.

OLYMPICS HUMBLE KIMBERLY BOWLERS

Olympic Team No. 1 took a fall out of the Kimberly Blue Moons, 2,802 to 2,624 on the Olympic alleys Wednesday night. The Olympics won the first two games but lost the third by ten pins.

G. James, with a score of 605 for three games, put up the best exhibition of bowling. His high score was 251. J. Verbeten, with 573 in three games, led the Kimberly pin knights. W. Groth scored 223 in the second game and W. Horn busted the maples for 214 in the first stanza.

MARQUETTE WALKS ALL OVER DAKOTANS

Milwaukee — Marquette completed the most successful football season in the history of the school with a 38 to 0 victory over South Dakota university at Athletic park, Thursday afternoon. It was the eighth victory of the season for the Hilltoppers and the ninth game in which the Gold and Blue goal line has not been crossed. Early in the season Ripon held the Hilltoppers to a scoreless tie. That was the only game of the season not credited to Marquette.

Thursday's game lacked the thrill which previous Marquette games had. Though the infield was covered with a canvas until game time, the outfield of the park was sloppy. Play at times was slow.

Outweighed by about five pounds to the man, Marquette clearly outplayed the visiting eleven. The Hill top line as usual displayed its great defensive strength. Only one defensive was made against it. The other three first downs made by South Dakota came on two long end runs by Quintal and a pass.

FORT ATKINSON WHIPS KENOSHA H. S., 27 TO 0

Kenosha, Wis.—Fort Atkinson turned the tables on Kenosha and took sweet revenge for last year's 21 to 0 pasting, by running over the Ioka team, 27 to 0, on the Simmons athletic field, Thanksgiving afternoon. The game was played in a rain, with a cold wind sweeping the field, that resulted in numerous fumbles. Capt. Roethel, left end of the Fort team stood head and shoulders above the rest of the players, and was the star of the game. He made two touchdowns. Uherr and Daniels each counted a marker. Daniels booted three goals.

APPLETON ACES LOSE TO TWIN CITY BOOSTERS, 39-10

Holiday Crowd Of 1,000 Sees Opening Basketball Game At Neenah-Menasha

Neenah—The Twin City Boosters American Legion team, got a good start in the opening game of the season in the armory here when it defeated the Appleton Aces, 39 to 10 in a basketball game Thursday night before a crowd of 1,000 persons.

While delighted with the win, the fans saw a runaway game as the Aces were on the defensive most of the time. The first half ended 13 to 5.

There were practically no individual stars for the Boosters with baskets being shot by practically all of the players. The Twin City aggregation used two combinations of forwards, starting the game with Chappelle and Mison. Gerhardt and H. Kuehl nt in for the second half. Wall was center, Bodin and Fay, guards. The Appleton lineup was made up of Hallas, and Anderson, forwards; Loose, center; Kubitz and A. Kuehl, guards. Hallas and Loose shot the majority of baskets for Appleton.

NIGHT HAWKS TAKE THREE FROM LEADERS

Toy Factory Squad Whips Sells Team In Eagle No. 2 League Games

Toy Factory and Night Hawk teams of Eagle League No. 2 were winners over Sells Eagles and Bright Spots in games rolled on Eagle alleys Wednesday night. The Toy factory team walloped Sells squad, 2,417 to 2,367, taking two out of three games. Dumke tipped over 543 pins for high honors and N. Welhouse was second with 521. The highest single score was rolled by P. Manthey who registered 195 in the second game.

The league leading Bright Spots suffered a serious setback when the Night Hawks grabbed three straight games for a total of 2,363 pins to 2,158. Miss Dunn and Miss Peterson did not roll and their absence was a serious handicap. They will be back in the lineup next week. M. Latham cranked 512 pins for the best score of the game.

Three teams now are tied for second place in the league, with the Bright Spots sitting on top.

HORTONVILLE FIVE BEATS INTERLAKE BASKETBALL TEAM

Pulpmakers Get Start But Merchants Recover And Hand 19 To 7 Defeat

The Interlake basketball team bumped into stiffer competition than it had anticipated Wednesday night when it was taken into camp by the Hortonville Merchants to the tune of 19 to 7 before a huge crowd in the Hortonville auditorium.

Capt. Gardner of Interlake and his aggregation started off with a speed that swept the Hortonville unit off the floor. Within five minutes Interlake scored four points. However, Hortonville got its breath and in the next ten minutes found its defensive. The first half ended 6 to 6. A free throw gave Interlake its other point in the second half.

Old led the Hortonville unit in getting baskets. The rest of the Hortonville lineup was made up of Dahreiner, forward; Ritter, center; Much and Rosenfield, guards.

Forwards Flotow and Day played a good game for the Appleton team.

"Y" BADGERS DEFEAT SEYMOUR HIGH SCHOOL

Playing a snappy game the Y. M. C. A. Badgers of Appleton defeated the Seymour high school basketball team Wednesday night 26 to 12. The game was staged in the Seymour high school gym.

The "Y" team was composed of Behnke and Bender, forwards; Kanouse, center; Thompson and Courtney, guards. Seymour team was made up of Miracle and Eick, forwards; T. Ohlrogge, center; C. Ohlrogge and Duffey, guards.

A preliminary game was staged between the Seymour Eighth grade and the Black Creek team. Seymour won 14 to 15. The Seymour players were Becker, Haladay, guards; Huth, center; Boyden, Hopkins and Bauman, forwards. Black Creek players were: Grunwaldt, Herzfeldt, guards; Wagner, center and Kuhn and Roloff, forwards.

Anderson played center and Gardner and Kessler were guards. Jens went in for Kessler and Rogers for Gardner in the last ten minutes.

Stewart of the Edison club of New London refereed. Hortonville Merchants will meet the Neopit Indians Monday night. Hortonville players are anxious to meet a good team once a week in its home hall. Managers are asked to address the Hortonville city team manager.

GREEN BAY WHIPS DULUTH, 10 TO 0

Green Bay—Battling on a gridiron, ankle deep in muck, the Green Bay Packers took a fall out of the Duluth K. C.'s by the score of 10 to 0 in the Thanksgiving day football tilt.

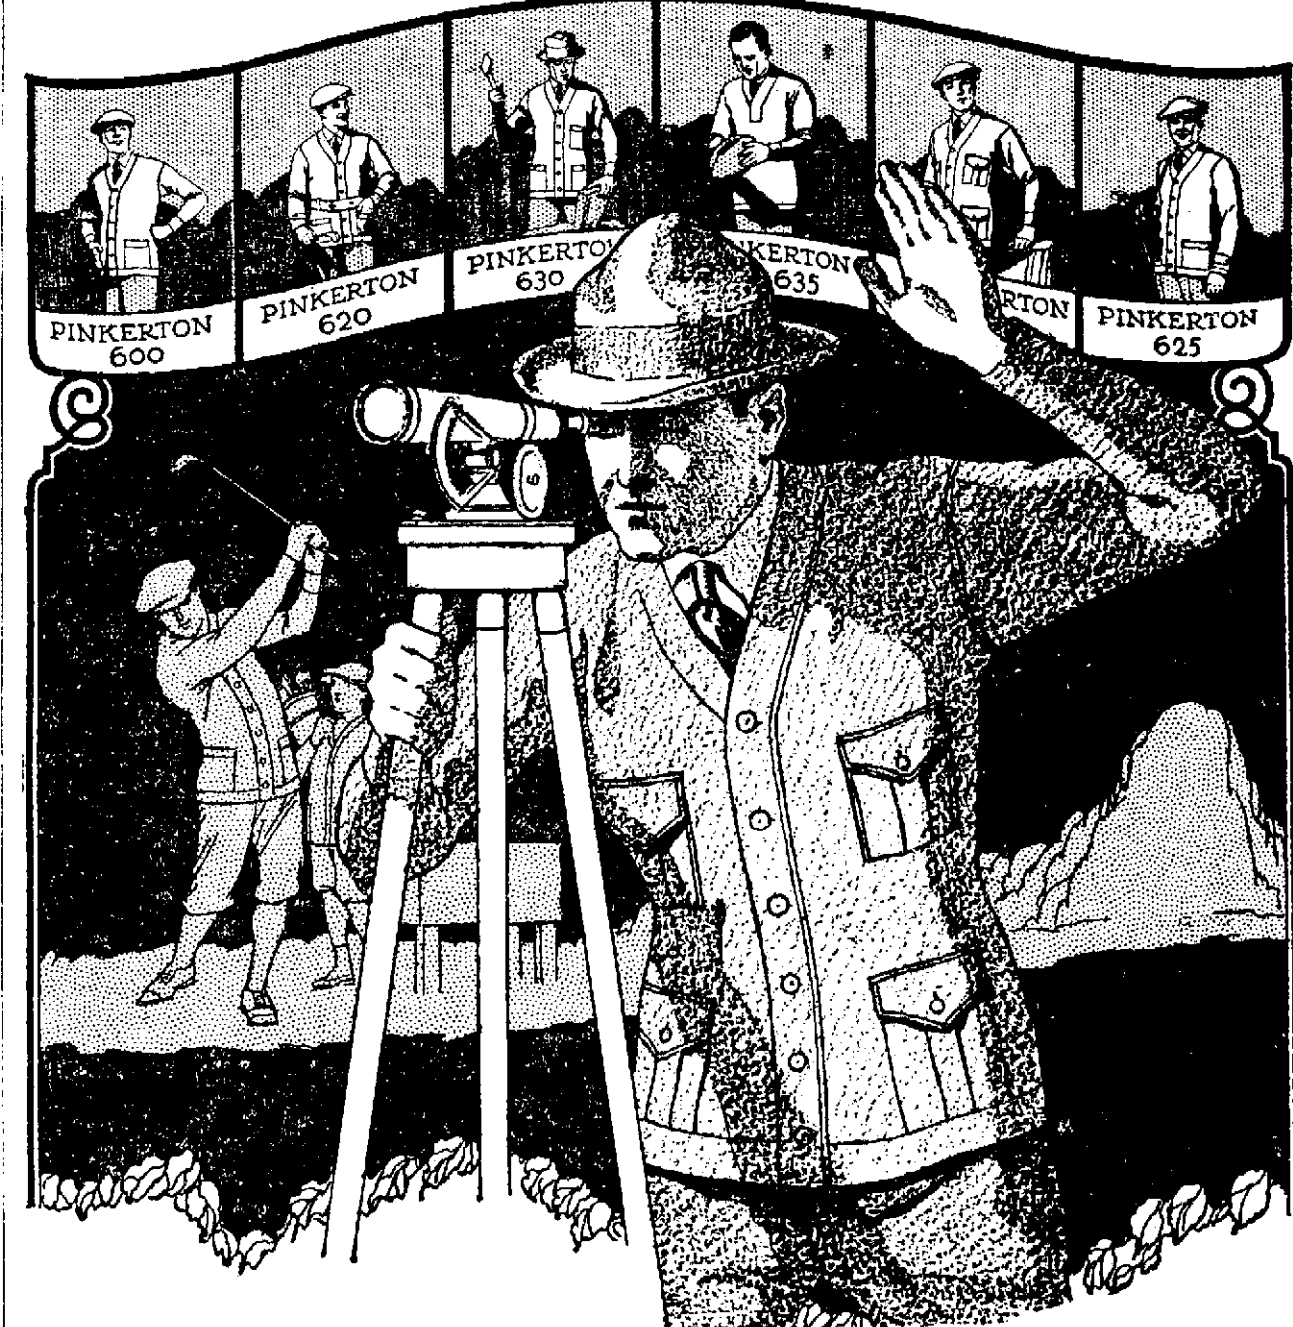

The visitors showed plenty of fight in the opening half but the terrific pounding of the Packer backfield told on the visitors in the final period and they crumbled under the strain.

After an exchange of kicks in the third quarter, the Packers secured the ball on Duluth's ten yard line and Capt. Lambeau smashed through for a touchdown. Buck kicked the goal.

In the fourth period, the Packers rushed down to Duluth's 20 yard mark from where Cub Buck, while standing in a mud puddle, negotiated a classy place kick for another three points. Aside from twice late in the first half, Duluth was never inside the Bay's 35 yard marker.

Buck, Lambeau and Hayes played brilliant ball for the Packers while Williams, Kiley and Gilbert were the luminaries for Duluth.

Sunday, Green Bay and Racine will settle the Badger state professional championship in a game at Milwaukee.
